PRESIDENT'S WIFE IS ILL

Showdown Seen Near Between Hoffa and Meany

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — A showdown between Teamster Crown Prince James R. Hoffa and AFL-CIO President George Meany appeared closer today following the rejection by the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department of a Meany-backed proposal to end jurisdictional disputes.

The trades department Monday apparently strengthened Hoffa's attack against the power and prestige of the AFL-CIO president by failing to accept a Meany-backed formula for solution of job jurisdiction between the industrial and craft unions.

The pint - sized trucking union vice president had come to the meeting armed with a resolution opposing the Meany solution to the jurisdictional clashes.

Delegates Vote Unanimously

He said he was "happy" after the more than 150 delegates attending the special one-day meeting of the trades department voted unanimously to bounce the issue back to next week's meeting in Chicago of the executive council of the AFL-CIO.

The vote came after Peter T. Schoemann, general president of the Plumbers Union and chairman of a committee to study the issue, told the delegates that Meany had agreed Monday morning to have his agreement reconsidered at the Chicago meeting.

"It's just what we wanted," said Hoffa.

Hoffa's resolution, sponsored by the Teamsters Building Council in his stronghold of Detroit, contended the Meany agreement would favor industrial unions.

"We are not prepared to pay the high price tags that the ultimate product apparently now carries," the resolution said.

No Need For Resolution

Hoffa told newsmen following the meeting that there had been no need to submit this resolution.

"We're back where we're at," he said. "What else do we need?"

Meany's proposal, drawn up by a joint committee headed by him, would provide that new construction work should be done by the craft-type building unions. Production and maintenance jobs would fall to the unions organized on plant-wide terms.

The agreement also provides for roving peace teams to settle disputes and Hoffa questioned Schoemann, following his report, about this phase.

Schoemann replied that if the Chicago meeting is able to settle what is in the so - called "gray areas" of work between the industrial and craft unions "there won't be a need for the teams."

Church Conclave Considers Members

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—The central committee of the World Council of Churches considered membership applications from six church groups in four continents today.

The committee was expected to approve the Burma Baptist Convention, the Gereformeerd (Christian Reformed) Church in Indonesia, the Presbyterian Church in East Africa, The Presbyterian and the Evangelical Lutheran Church (U.S.).

The sixth applicant, the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Lativia (in exile) had little chance of joining the world council. The Latvian church applied for membership in 1949 but was turned down.

Fire Damages Cab At Monessen Plant

A fire at 7:30 this morning damaged the cab of an ore bridge serving the Nos. 1 and 2 blast furnaces of the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

An electrical deficiency caused the fire, it is believed. The blaze was extinguished with mill facilities.

The damaged cab will cause the ore bridge to be out of service about 18 hours. However, there will be no interruption of production at the two furnaces.

Report Burglary At PNA Club

The Polish National Alliance club at 214 Knox Ave., Monessen, was burglarized sometime Monday morning, it was reported to police at noon yesterday.

Edward Gladys, steward, discovered the burglary. He said two pinball machines were ransacked, a roll of pennies was taken from a cash register.

Entrance was gained by breaking a window.

K. of C. meet at Check's 7:30 tonight to recite rosary for Mrs. Tressa Vizza.

Gus's Channel Try Is Delayed Again

CALAIS, France (UP) — Rough seas in the English Channel today forced Gustave Adolph Brickner, 45, a Charleroi, Pa., steelworker, to postpone a channel swim attempt again.

Brickner, father of five children, hopes to swim from Cape Gris Nez to Dover, England. Bad weather forced him to postpone the effort earlier but, he was confident up until the last minute he could overcome the high winds and unfavorable tides.

House Committee Makes Slash in Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Appropriations Committee, taking one of its last swings this year at federal spending, today chopped 16 per cent from requested funds to finance this year's military construction and assorted minor government functions.

President Eisenhower had asked for $1,860,748,967. The committee recommended to the House an appropriation of $1,581,590,587 a cut of $279,158,380.

The lion's share of the request, of the funds allowed, and of the cut were applied to Army, Navy and Air Force plans for continued work on a world-wide system of defense bases. The committee called for greater economies in this work and use of existing facilities wherever possible before new projects are started.

Cuts recorded by the committee today, if sustained by the House, would bring to $4,322,014,309 total savings claimed by the House so far this year against budget requests totalling $57,879,869,615.

About all that is left to be considered are the annual foreign aid request, which can't be considered

Arab Nations Discuss British 'Aggression'

CAIRO (UP)—Diplomats from eight Arab nations met today to discuss "British aggression" in Oman and to decide whether to convene the full Arab League Council to handle rebel pleas for aid.

The Imam of Oman, leader of rebel forces arrayed against the pro-British sultan, has asked for help against the British who have been supporting the sultan.

The chiefs of diplomatic missions of Syria, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, the Yenen, Iraq, Libya and the Sudan attended the meeting with Egyptian representatives at the league secretarial offices.

Jordan was not represented since it closed its embassy in Cairo during the crisis in Egyptian-Jordanian relations last April.

League officials said today's meeting was only preliminary and that any major policy decisions must await action by the full league council.

Say Dio Demanded 'Protection'

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Labor Rackets Committee today heard testimony that New York labor racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi demanded $2,500 "protection" from management to bar other unions from picketing shops which signed a "sweetheart" contract with a Dio-controlled union.

Stanley Lehrer, attorney for the Auto Glass Dealers Association of New York, told the committee his 140 to 150 members agreed to pay Dio $25 per employe to ward off jurisdictional picketing which could drive them out of business.

Lehrer said his association—largely composed of one - man shops — capitulated to picketing in the summer of 1955 because truck drivers would not cross the picket lines to deliver the windshield glass they needed daily.

Negotiate Contract

He said the association negotiated a contract with President Harry Reiss of Local 227, United Auto Workers (AFL) — a union whose New York director was Dio convicted labor racketeer.

When the negotiation was nearly complete, Lehrer said, some of the employers asked how they could avoid being picketed by other unions which had also sought to organize them.

He said Reiss told them that Dio was the only man in New York who could help them.

The committee has charged that Dio, convicted labor racketeer who was boss of the UAW-AFL's New York operations, cooperated with Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa to set up seven Teamster "paper locals" and give Hoffa control of the Teamsters in the nation's largest city.

Personal Interest

Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the committee would seek to show that Dio "through one of his unions and the Equitable Research Corp." had a personal interest in a "sweetheart contract" — a contract which favors the employers, gives the workers little or no benefit and wards off organizing efforts by other unions.

Theodore (Teddy Ray) Rij, Dio's 240-pound bodyguard, invoked the Fifth Amendment last week when asked whether he and Dio were in business together as the Equitable Research Corp.

Kennedy said other witnesses would include officers of UAW-AFL Local 224 which became Teamsters Local 269, and UAW-AFL Local 250 which became Teamsters Local 258.

He said the committee would show the tactics these unions used against legitimate employers.

Also scheduled to testify was Max Chester, a former union official and friend of Dio, convicted July 25 with Dio of conspiring to exact money from employers to insure labor peace. Chester was released from a New York jail cell to testify but his appearance Monday was postponed at the request of his attorney.

County Democrats Will Ask Governor to Appoint Weiss

BULLETIN

HARRISBURG—The office of Governor Leader responded with "no comment" today to a question concerning the possible appointment of David H. Weiss, of Monessen, to a common pleas court vacancy in Westmoreland County.

Westmoreland County Democratic leaders plan to ask Gov. George M. Leader to appoint David H. Weiss, of Monessen, to a vacancy on the county common pleas court, The Daily Independent was informed today.

Weiss, an assistant district attorney, last Saturday was designated as the Democratic nominee for the court vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter in April.

Governor Leader, who is a Democrat, can appoint a replacement to serve the balance of this year. The candidate elected in November will serve a regular 10-year term.

Democratic County Chairman Jay W. Kromer told The Independent party leaders will meet soon to draft such a request to Governor Leader.

If normal patronage routine is followed, the Governor would honor such a request bearing the endorsement of the county chairman.

That would enable Weiss to campaign this fall as a "sitting" judge, which is usually regarded as a tactical advantage.

Weiss' running mates on the Democratic judicial ticket are Judge Edward G. Bauer, who is seeking his second term, and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco.

Judge Bauer and Sculco were nominated at the April primary election for court vacancies which are occurring in the regular order. President Judge Richard D. Laird, also a Democrat, is retiring after serving two terms.

Kromer said no date has been set for the meeting to consider the request to Governor Leader. But he said it will be "soon".

He did not indicate who, besides himself, would be involved in making the formal decision.

Weiss was nominated for the vacancy by the party's executive committee, which is composed of the chairman and vice chairman of the Democratic party in each municipality.

Backed by the regular party organization, Weiss defeated five other candidates for the nomination.

PUC Okays Fare Boost on Incline In Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today authorized Duquesne Inclined Plane Co. to raise fares Sunday for rides on the hillside between Grandview Avenue and Carson street in Pittsburgh.

The single passenger fare will be increased from six to 10 cents and the round-trip transfer via Pittsburgh Railways lines will go up from 40 to 41 cents. A 20-trip ticket costing $1.25 also will be inaugurated.

The PUC said the higher fares were in line with those charged by the Monongahela Inclined Plane Co.—the only other independent cable car service in Pittsburgh. Duquesne said it was losing money on its operation and needed the estimated $5,290 additional annual revenue to offset the deficit.

Meanwhile, the commission said hearings were under way on applications by Pittsburgh Railways to abandon its Pittsburgh cable car on Bradish Street and the Castle Shannon incline on east Carson Street.

Suspect Religious Fanatic in Two Dayton Bombings

DAYTON, O. (UP)—Dayton police said today there appears to be a definite link between two "wedding gift bombs" delivered in this area in the last 16 months. Authorities said they may have been the work of a religious fanatic.

The latest bomb was delivered last week to groom-to-be Robert Gaylon, 21. He was uninjured when the bomb went off in his back yard, blasting a foot-deep hole in the ground.

Early last year, a similar package was received by Donald Dixon. The "gift" exploded in his living room and sent him to the hospital with face injuries.

Authorities pointed to the number of similarities between the two bombs. Both were crudely wrapped in rough cartons and taped. Neither had gone through the mails.

Fined for Gambling

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—John De Flavio, Latrobe storekeeper, was fined $250 and costs today when he pleaded guilty to gambling charges before Judge John M. O'Connell. He was charged with setting up a gambling place, pool selling and bookmaking.

To Turn Back Protest March On Atom Testing

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Atomic Energy Commission security guards stood prepared behind barbed wire gates today to repulse a scheduled protest march into the Nevada Proving Grounds by a group of demonstrators on the 12th anniversary of the Hiroshima atomic bombing.

The AEC said it was confident that members of the Non - Violent Action Against Nuclear Weapons would never gain access to the restricted test area.

Bales of wire were unrolled along miles of the desert waste and at entrances to the test site. One observer commented that "it looked like the beachhead at Normandy with the barbed bales strung out as far as you can see—the kind of stuff you'd find at a battlefront."

Lawrence Scott, coordinator of the "concerned Americans," planned to lead the demonstrators, called "atom - lopers" by local residents, on the prayer vigil and civil disobedience march. The demonstrators, about 30 strong, had hoped that their protest would follow the firing of an atomic device early today.

However, the AEC postponed for at least 24 hours the detonation of one of two devices because of high altitude jet stream winds. One of the blasts would have equalled the power of theb womb which was dropped on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945 and three days later on Nagasaki.

Mrs. Eisenhower Undergoes Two Hour Surgery

WASHINGTON (UP) — Mrs. Eisenhower underwent a two-hour internal operation by a gynecologist at Walter Reed Hospital this morning while the President conferred in the White House with Republican leaders.

The White House would say only that the surgery dealt with a "benign condition" — not cancerous — and had been planned for some time. It was not an emergency operation.

The surgeon was Dr. Humbert L. Riva, a colonel in the Army Medical Corps, a gynecologist.

Mrs. Eisenhower, 60, was reported by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty to be in "good condition" following the surgery.

She entered the operating room at Walter Reed shortly after 8 a. m. E.D.T. this morning and was removed at 10:15 a. m.

Her admission to the hospital was kept top secret until the President was informed of the results of the operation. Eisenhower received the news of the successful completion of the operation while he was conferring with Republican congressional leaders at the White House.

Shortly after the President heard from the hospital, Hagerty issued this statement:

"Mrs. Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital yesterday. This morning she underwent an operation for a benign condition, the operation performed by Dr. Humbert L. Riva (Colonel M C) and it was successful. Mrs. Eisenhower's condition is good."

Pressed by reporters for the precise nature of the First Lady's ailment, Hagerty pointed out that Riva was a gynecologist. A gynecologist specializes in women's ailments.

Under later questioning, Hagerty said the operation involved "nothing serious and not an emergency." He also said that the surgery disclosed "nothing malignant."

Asked when it was decided that Mrs. Eisenhower required surgery, Hagerty said "it has been considered for quite a little time".

After Mrs. Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Monday, she was visited by her son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his wife, Barbara. Hagerty said he expected the President would go to Walter Reed sometime this afternoon.

Mrs. Eisenhower had a "top to toe" examination at Walter Reed during the third week of June, four months after a similar complete medical check - up. At that time, the White House said the examination was "routine" and had no connection with the First Lady's heart murmur, which resulted from a childhood attack of rheumatic fever.

Mrs. Eisenhower spent most of last week in Denver. She went there primarily for the dedication of a city park named in her honor, and returned here Saturday afternoon in time to preside at a family dinner in observance of John Eisenhower's 35th birthday.

The President apparently kept in close touch with the surgery this morning as he met with the congressional leaders. Their conference began at 8:30 a.m. e.d.t. Usually this weekly meeting ends in about 90 minutes. Today however, the leaders remained in session with the President for more than two hours.

Craft Named Athletics Manager

CHICAGO (UP) — Owner Arnold Johnson of the Kansas City Athletics today announced that Lou Boudreau has been replaced as manager by Coach Harry Craft.

Craft started his professional baseball career in the mid-thirties with the Monessen Reds, a Class D Cincinnati farm club in the old Penn State League.

Begin Installing Sewage System At District Plant

Excavation has been started on the installation of a two-unit sewage treatment system in Forward Twp. Work was started last November on the foundation.

Being installed at the Monongahela Division plant of Combustion Engineering, Inc., the first of the two units is expected to be ready to go into operation next month. July 1, 1958, has been set for completion of the entire project.

The separate treatment plants were designed by S. R. Collins, of Lewisburg, Pa., a consulting engineer, in conjunction with the company's engineering department.

They have been designed to take care of an increasing plant population projected to the year 1970, and include a complete sewage collection system treatment plant, aeration system, final settling tanks, sludge disposal and a chlorination system.

The system, one of the first to be installed by a district industry, is designed to remove in excess of eighty per cent of the bacteria organic deposits normally going into the river.

Sewage now poured into the river from six pipes draining toilets, laboratories and showers will be collected in a central plant for treatment. The township industry throws no industrial waste needing treatment into the river.

District Teamsters Do Not Endorse Hoffa

Teamsters Local 872, representing Mon Valley drivers, indicated last night that it has no intention of supporting controversial James R. Hoffa as a successor to the union's national president Dave Beck.

The Mon Valley Local quickly endorsed Harry Tevis, of Pittsburgh, as an international vice-president, but ignored a similar endorsement of Hoffa.

Business Agent and Secretary-Treasurer William Kreuter explained that Local 872 is waiting to see if any other candidates will enter the race for the union presidency before making an endorsement.

The big Teamsters union will begin its national convention in Miami, Fla., on Sept. 30. At that time, a successor to Beck will be picked.

In recent days, several mid-western Teamsters locals have endorsed Hoffa. He is believed to be the leading candidate for Beck's position.

However a district union official, who asked to remain unidentified, said that Hoffa "is definitely not popular in this area." He predicted that "none of the Pittsburgh locals will be for him even if he is the only candidate."

At last night's meeting of the valley teamsters in Charleroi, Kreuter and Bill Palmer were selected to attend the Miami convention. Kreuter will cast the Local's vote on instructions of the membership.

The Mon Valley Local plans to meet again Sept. 9 at which time additional endorsements may be made.

Mon Valley Country Club to Consider Pool

Members of the Monongahela Valley Country Club will consider plans for the contruction of a swimming pool and major improvements to the clubhouse on Route 88 at a special meeting tomorrow night.

The meeting will be held at the clubhouse at 8 p. m.

The club's board of directors will seek approval from the membership for a campaign to raise $100,000, of which about $60,000 would be spent for the pool and the balance of $40,000 on remodeling of the clubhouse.

Besides the pool, improvemeets would include new showers, snack bar, a patio, parking lot and fencing.

A proxy statement sent to members in connection with tomorrow night's meeting also disclosed that the directors have retained an architect to plan an expansion of the golf course to 18 holes. The course now has nine holes.

The project will involve acquisition of additional land, which will require considerable time and cost, the statement said.

If the swimming pool is approved, the directors propose to admit about 100 additional members who will enjoy the use of the pool and clubhouse but not of the golf course.

Under the club's by-laws, only active members, each of whom owns at least one share of stock, are eligible to participate in its business affairs such as tomorrow's meeting. The club has about 60 such members and about 130 in other categories.

One Person Hurt In District Mishap

One person was injured in a two-car mishap on Fifth St. in Charleroi late last night.

Taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for treatment of possible neck injuries was Wayne Faller, 42, of Dawson, a passenger in a car operated by Mario Soldati, of 547 Fayette St., Belle Vernon. Two other passengers, Mrs. Faller and Mrs. Soldati, escaped injuries, it was reported.

Police said a car operated by James Macko, of 313 Isabella St., North Charleroi, struck the rear of the Soldati vehicle.

Issue Will Be Decided At Polls on November 5

HARRISBURG (UP) — Pennsylvania voters will be asked to decide on two proposed amendments to the state's 83-year-old Constitution when they go to the polls next Nov. 5.

The 1957 Legislature, like its predecessor, seeks authority from the electorate to set up the machinery for payment of a 150 million dollar bonus to Pennsylvania's approximately 335,000 Korean War veterans, and to extend absentee voting privileges to civilians.

The Korean bonus would first involve a change in the Constitution to authorize the Commonwealth to create an additional bonded indebtedness in the amount of 150 million dollars, the estimated cost. But another provision in the legislative resolution and part of the ballot question said the creation of such indebtedness must be contingent upon enactment by the General Assembly of revenue-raising measures sufficient to amortize the amount borrowed.

The 1957 General Assembly left that tax problem up to the next session.

The question of liberalized voting rights to go on the fall ballot would authorize the Legislature to "provide by law for absentee voting by qualified electors who are unavoidably absent from the state or county of their residence, or who are unable to go to their polling places because of illness or physical disability."

Here again enabling legislation woud be required, to spell out in detail changes to be made in the state Elections Code. The intent of the legislators is also to extend the franchise to qualified electors unavoidably away from their voting residences because of duties, occupation or business on election day.

Another proposed constitutional change was also approved by the last two Legislatures, but will not go on the statewide ballot until next year. The proposal for establishment of special tax standards and qualifications for private forest preserves was defeated by the voters four years ago and the Constitution stipulates a statewide question can not be brought up more than once in five years.

The 1957 session initiated seven other suggested changes in the Constitution, but they would have to get okays from the next Legislature before going on the ballot

Among them are recommendations for annual legislative sessions, lowering the voting age from 21 to 18, making the office of state attorney general elective and changing the membership of the state Pardons Board.

Dulles Defends Peace Proposals Made by West

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the danger of a major war between East and West will recede if Russia accepts the West's latest proposals for guarding against surprise attacks.

Dulles told a news conference that the proposals made by him in London last week represent the most significant offer in terms of peace made in recent history, or perhaps in all history.

Speaking with great feeling, Dulles said he believes world public opinion will demand acceptance of safeguards against either East or West launching a surprise attack.

He said the advantages of such safeguards in terms of security, lower military budgets and other factors will be irresistible to the United States and the Soviet Union alike.

If iron clad agreements can be reached to prevent surprise attacks, Dulles said, all nations can feel with reason that the danger of major war has receded.

But Dulles warned that he is dubious about making progress on control of armaments unless agreement is reached first to guard against surprise attack.

A major war, he said, will not be started unless the aggressor believes he can attack his adversary with surprise.

Sufficient inspection to ward off the danger of a surprise attack, the secretary said, would be a real move toward making arms reduction almost inevitable.

Dulles returned from London Saturday after arranging an agreement among the North Atlantic Treaty nations on a new aerial-ground inspection program. This was the proposal presented to the Russians at the London disarmament talks.

until the aid authorization bill is finally passed, and funds for the Atomic Energy Commission, also tied up pending congressional action on an authorizing bill.

No doubt these requests will be cut too.

However, the claimed savings in appropriations don't mean that government spending will be cut by anything like the same amount. At best, the administration now hopes to shave President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending plans for the fiscal year — the record budget that set off the congressional economy drive — by only about one billion dollars.

For military construction the President asked $1,764,700,000. The committee allowed $1,521,500,000 a cut of $243,200,000 The sum allowed included $34,200,000, as requested, to continue work on the earth satellite.

Most of the rest of the bill was in supplemental funds to tide over various agencies which got their regular appropriations earlier.

Father Fights Attacking Cat

MIAMI (UP)—Police hunted an ocelot today which was wounded, perhaps mortally, by a father who wrested it with bare hands from the back of his 18-month-old son.

John Vlad, 34, said the big cat attacked the boy as he played in the back yard of his home, inflicting deep bites and scratches on the youngster's neck and his right ear. The boy was sprawled on his face with the ocelot on his back when Vlad arrived on the scene, Vlad said.

Senate Probers Want Steelworkers Votes Impounded

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Rackets Committee has asked the 2,500 locals of the United Steelworkers union to impound the ballots by which President David J. McDonald was re-elected last February.

Informed sources said the union's international headquarters is cooperating with the request. McDonald in a public statement several months ago said his union would cooperate with the committee.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced earlier the staff would look into complaints by the losing candidate that McDonald used union funds in his campaign and there were voting irregularities.

The loser, Donald C. Rarick of McKeesport, Pa., was defeated 404,000 to 223,000 after a campaign which started as a protest against an increase in dues from $2 to $5 a month.

Rarick and some of his followers presented their case to a closed session of the committee several weeks ago.

Informed sources said the committee asked the recording secretaries of the USW's locals to impound the ballots because the union's constitution provides for retaining them only six months, a deadline which expires Aug. 12.

Turn Down Bricklayers Requests in Uniontown

Eleven building contractors in the Uniontown district last night voted to reject requests of district bricklayers for a wage increase and at the same time accused the bricklayers' union of violating an "oral" contract.

The dispute has halted work on a factory building on Route 119 near Uniontown since July 29.

Edgar Miller, president of Local 57, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers, said only about 10 bricklayers are involved. He said there has been no picketing.

A. F. Sandorf, spokesman for the contractors group, charged after a meeting last night in the offices of Uniontown Construction Co., that "the 'strikers' are going out working forr private individuals while this is going on."

Sandorf said "10 or 11" contracting firms were represented at the meeting. They considered and rejected a proposal of the union calling for "a 3-year contract with a 12½ cent increase every six months until the average wage reaches that of locals within a 50-miles radius of Pittsburgh, not including Pittsburgh."

Sandorf said the union is demanding the increase on both commercial and residential construction work. He said that commercial contractors had earlier offered to give a 12½ cent increase, and had "started to pay it as of July 1," but the contractor charged that the union later repudiated what had been considered "a valid agreement" and continued with previous demands.

The contractors' spokesman also charged that the bricklayers violated a custom of "completing a job at the old rate once it was started," by walking off the factory project.

Suggests Big Cut in Wash. County Budget

A drastic cut in operation costs for the remainder of 1957 for Washington County yesterday was recommended to the Board of County Commissioners by Minority Commissioner John Mazza.

His recommendations include a cut of about 40 employes, chiefly within the commissioners' jurisdiction.

He made his recommendation after reading a report submitted by Chief Clerk Joseph DiFilippo showing projected expenses of the county for the remainder of the year at the current rate of expenditure.

"The report showed that we would finish in the red in excess of $100,000, and I think we should do something to curb the amount of money we will have to borrow before the end of the year," Mazza said.

Despite the report referred to by Mazza, other observers feel the actual deficit will exceed the $100,000 — plus estimated although in justice to the Commissioners they have been placed in a more precarious position financially by agreeing to move the courthouse and jail cleaning project up one year to match the clean-up program of the City of Washington.

Not Budgeted

"The approximate $45,000 that will be paid this year on that project was not budgeted at the beginning of 1957 but this half-payment of the project will come from current revenue.

"We are also in a peculiar position with relation to the airport project," Mazza added. "Federal and state reimbursement comes to us only after the completion of a project while we must meet current expenses for the project from our general fund and this lag in a $20,000 bond issue and the lengthly, can create a period when any cash reserve is seriously tapped."

On this subject, however, Mazza was touching on a recent item of controversy. Money for the airport project was obtained last year in a $10,000 bond issue and the money dropped into the general fund pending the time when it would be needed for the airport project.

OBITUARY

CHESTER L. WILLIS

A Belle Vernon native, Chester L. Willis, 44, of 118 Cherry Ave., Houston, died unexpectedly at his home yesterday at 5.45 a. m.

Born April 21, 1913 in Belle Vernon, he was the son of Percy M. and Goldie Hough Willis. He had lived his entire life in the Canonsburg-Houston area.

Employed as an auditor for the Pittsburgh District of United States Steel Co., he was a member of Houston United Presbyterian Church, Charters Lodge 297, Free and Accepted Masons and the New Castle Consistory.

Mr. Willis graduated from Canonsburg High School in 1931 and from Washington and Jefferson College in 1935. While at college he was a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He was secretary of Houston School Board and a member of Charters-Houston Joint Board.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Irene Bartram Willis; a daughter, Joan, at home; his parents, who live in Canonsburg and a sister, Frances Willis, also of Canonsburg.

Queen Elizabeth I was the first English sovereign to use a fork while eating.

Mother, Daughter Hurt in Charleroi

A Charleroi mother and daughter were injured in an auto accident yesterday on Route 71, it was learned today.

Mrs. Stella Morgan and her daughter, Carol, 14, of 100 Bolts Ave., were treated for minor injuries at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and released.

State police said they had no report of the mishap.

The first national weather service for the United States was organized in 1870 by the Army Signal corps.

Lower Down Payments; Boost Rates on Building Loans

WASHINGTON (UP) — Housing industry officials today forecast a possible low-cost housing boom if lenders accept the new low federal floor on down payments.

At the same time, the Federal Housing Administration faced a full congressional investigation because of the boost in mortgage interest rates that accompanied the down payment cuts.

The Eisenhower administration Monday authorized a 25 to 57 per cent reduction in minimum required down payments and a ¼ per cent boost in interest rates on government - insured FHA loans. The move aimed at putting new life in the lagging housing industry.

Two Possible Hitches

The new regulations mean that for the first time in history a man can buy a $14,000 home with a downpayment as small as $900 under the FHA program. Monday he would have had to put down at least $1,700.

But there are two possible hitches:

—The man has to find a lender willing to pass out mortgage money on the new low down payment terms.

—Interes rates probably will be higher now on the mortgage regardless of the down payment required.

Industry officials said the new regulations probably will not mean any building upsurge this year because of the time lag in setting up housing projects.

However, they said if the regulations bring out more mortgage money into the market a low-cost housing boom is possible.

George S. Goodyear, National president, said the reduced down payments "could be the most significant step forward the FHA has made since its establishment in in 1934."

However, Chairman Albert Rains (D-Ala.) of the House banking subcommittee on housing legislation said Congress "must restudy the whole FHA program" because of the boost in interest rates from 5 to 5¼ per cent.

Rains said Congress may have to enact legislation "to stop the present administration's mania for continually raising interest rates."

Other congressmen who have continually denounced the administration's high interest "tight money" policies aimed at checking inflation joined rains in attacking the mortgage interest boost.

But all applauded the reduction in down payments. Many had been urging President Eisenhower for weeks to make the move authorized earlier this year by Congress.

The move was opposed by important sections of the administration—the "tight money" proponents in the Treasury Department, Budget Bureau, Federal Reserve Board and the President's Council of Economic Advisers. They argued that the lower down payments would be inflationary.

Question Market Effect

Moreover, some officials questioned the impact of the move on the housing market since less than 30 per cent of all mortgages come under the FHA and GI loan guarantee programs.

Under the new regulations, which are effective immediately, the down payment schedule is 3 per cent of the first $10,000 of the mortgage; 15 per cent of the next $6,000 and 30 per cent on anything over that up to a limit of $20,000.

The old requirement was 5 per cent on the first $9,000 and 25 per cent on anything above that up to a ceiling of $20,000.

The government also clamped restrictions on "discounting"—a practice under which the borrower in effect is required to give the lender a special fee to obtain a mortgage.

To Vary Regionally

Cole said FHA discount rates will be permitted to vary regionally but that they still will be no larger than 2½ per cent in any case The Veterans Administration noted that veterans cannot be charged discounts under the GI home loan program.

However, in accordance with the new law, the VA imposed limits on the fees and other discount charges paid by builders to obtain financing. The ceilings vary from 2½ to 5½ per cent depending on locality and amount of down payment.

The controversial discount is a premium deducted by the lender at the time the loan is negotiated. It is in addition to the regular interest rate and other charges.

Senate Set For Vote on CR Bill

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican congressional leaders today pronounced the Senate's civil rights bill "unacceptable" to President Eisenhower. They said they will press for its amendment in a House-Senate conference.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate today moved rapidly toward ending its long debate on civil rights with passage expected within 48 hours.

However, the real battle already had moved to behind the scenes in the House.

The House must decide whether to accept the Senate version of the bill with the administration - opposed jury trial amendment or send the bill to a joint conference committee.

The first path could lead to a presidential veto. The second to death of the bill in conference.

At the same time, Congress moved swiftly toward disposing of stacks of bills in the way of adjournment.

Other congressional news:

Surpluses: Congress opened the way to completion of a trade agreement with Communist Poland by passing a 1,300,0$00,000 farm surplus barter bill. The bill was sent to the White House for signing.

Social Security: The House refused to make policemen and firemen eligible for Social Security benefits. The House voted 120-64 in favor of the plan—not enough for passage under the two-thirds rule under which it was brought up for passage.

Taxes: The House approved a bill that would cut in half the 20 per cent nightclubbing tax. The bill was sent to the Senate.

Draftees: The House passed a bill that would let the Defense Department reject draftees whom it considers not smart enough to man complex atomic-age weapons. The bill—sent to the Senate—would allow the Army to screen out the bottom 30 per cent i.q. group from draft eligibles.

Predict Russia Will Reject U. S. 'Open Skies' Plan

LONDON (UP)— Neutral diplomats predicted today Russia would reject the West's new "open skies" disarmament plan unless it is extended to the huge American and British military bases in North Africa and the Middle East.

This area guarding the Soviet underbelly is the only major military zone omitted in the comprehensive air-and-ground inspection proposal presented by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles last week at the London disarmament conference.

Diplomats said they expected Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin to sound out Western willingness about opening the skies over the Middle East before any final Soviet answer is delivered, perhaps within a month.

Whether this back - and - forth would take place in the conference or in secret contacts could only be guessed at, but U.S. Delegate Harold Stassen was present at today's session to hear Zorin's queries.

Suggests Dilworth as Candidate for Governor

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) said Monday night he will urge Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia to seek the Democratic nomination for governor next year.

Dilworth won the nomination in 1950 but was defeated by John S. Fine who ran on the Republican ticket.

Clark said he knew Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh and Matthew H. McCloskey, Philadelphia, treasurer of the National Democratic Committee, also supported Dilworth, "although I have never huddled with them on the subject."

He said he also felt "sure" James Finnegan, secretary of the Commonwealth, "also would like to see Dick run."

At Pittsburgh, Lawrence declined to discuss the 1958 gubernatorial picture.

"We have a local election to take care of first before we get into a state election," he said. Lawrence is seeking re-election to a fourth term as Pittsburgh mayor.

Clark said he had not talked to Dilworth recently. But he said he had been urging him all along to run for governor and "I intend to urge him again to run."

"Personall, I hope he'll run," Clark said.

Have to Resign

Dilworth's term as mayor of Philadelphia expires in 1960. Should he choose to run for governor he would have to resign as mayor in accordance with provisions of his city's new charter.

"It is a difficult decision to make," Clark said. "He'd be a shoo-in for re-election as mayor. I understand also that he would like to complete the Philadelphia program before takling the governorship. However, I hope to change his mind."

At Sharon, state Sen. Joseph M. Barr, who also is Democratic state chairman, said Monday night he had not talked to Dilworth about the matter.

"I know also that Governor Leader hasn't talked to him," Barr said.

'Machines Day' at Business School

The Monessen Douglas School of Business will hold a business machines day tomorrow at its offices at 469 Donner Ave., it was announced today by Charles A. Toteda, co-owner.

Fourteen leading business-machines companies will display and demonstrate newest typewriters, calculators, adding machines, duplicators and bookkeeping machines.

The demonstration will be held between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Merchants and school officials and teachers have been invited. It is not open to the public.

Bulganin Appears to Be Shunted

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev unmistakeably acted as host Monday night at a reception for the 3,000 delegates to the Moscow Youth Festival.

Khrushchev sat at a table with Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Trade Minister Anastas Mikoyan. Other members of the Communist Party presidium sat at another table.

Khrushchev and Zhukov were first to greet the honor guests and did most of the handshaking. The only cheers heard during the evening were for Khrushchev, the Communist Party and the Soviet Union.

Bulganin appeared to be performing the normal functions of the premiership. For example Monday he received the "Japanese committee for banning nuclear weapons."

On Way Out

(Western diplomats in London have speculated that Bulganin is on the way out as result of the recent Molotov - Malenkov - Kaganovich purge. It was noted he has been dropped from Khrushchev's visit to East Germany this week.)

The four leaders talked together, smiled and read papers or letters from time to time and refilled their plates from trays arranged before them. Occasionally they strolled over and greeted guests.

St. Cajetan Holy Name Society Plans Activities

The executive board of the Holy Name Society of St. Cajetan Church met last night in the church basement and discussed plans for a future program of activities.

Plans were completed for a picnic to be held at City Park on Aug. 21. Free corn will be served and there will be other refreshments. Rides and entertainment will be available for the children. The activity will begin at 6 p. m.

The board discussed and approved the project of spearheading the drive for funds for the proposed St. Cajetan Elementary School. This must be presented before the entire organization before such a project can be undertaken.

It was decided to purchase two new holy water fonts for the church vestibule.

The sale of Catholic Christmas cards was adopted as a fund raising project and the men decided to purchase 1000 boxes to be distributed among the members to sell.

Atomic Workers Granted Increase

PORTSMOUTH, O. (UP)—Goodyear Atomic Corp. officials and representatives of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union at the nearby Waverly AEC plant signed a three-year contract Monday.

The pact affects 1,500 of the 2,700-man plant. It provides for a 13-cent an hour increase, 11 cents retroactive to last April 30th.

A nine cent raise will be granted next April 30.

Union members ratified the contract last Friday.

Minor Damage as U. S. Subs Collide

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP)—Two U.S. Navy submarines collided underwater at dawn today in the Atlantic Ocean about 100 miles south of here, but damage was minor and there were no injuries, the Navy reported.

A spokesman at Atlantic Fleet submarine headquarters said the USS Tusk and the USS Cobbler were "returning to port under their own power."

The Tusk, a new London-based craft, and the Cobbler, a unit of submarine Squadron 6 out of Norfolk, Va., collided at 4:39 a.m. e.d.t., the Navy said.

The two submarines were engaged in maneuvers at the time.

Each craft has a crew of 74 men and 8 officers.

The Navy said an investigation will be conducted into the cause of the accident.

Wall Street Views Business Situation with No Alarm

By ELMER C. WALZER

NEW YORK (UP) — Wall Street's views on the business situation and on the stock market reflect only a tinge of pessimism at this time.

The street apparently is convinced that the gross national product this year will show a gain and set a record high; that saving will continue to increase but at the same time consumer spending will hold at a high rate, and that there is nothing really serious in the news to affect the market.

At the same time, the experts point out that there is nothing dynamic to send the market higher, except for the normal rallies in the course of a consolidation movement.

Not all of the commentators have given up anticipating another try at a new record in the industrial average.

Where none agrees is on the duration of the consolidation period.

Edmund W. Tabell, analyst for Walston & Co., points out that the consolidation period of 1946-1949 held for around 40 months while the 1951-53 period ran for 28 months.

If, says Tabell, we use April, 1956, as the start of the present consolidating area, a 40-month projection would carry to August, 1959 and a 28-month projection would carry to August, 1958.

The current consolidation period could be shorter or longer than the preceding ones, he admits.

Tabell believes the market will hold in the 525-450 area in the Dow - Jones industrial average. This, he adds, does not preclude the possibility that the averages might reach modest new highs while still remaining in the broad confines of the trading area.

Standard & Poor's says the trend toward higher savings suggests a cautious spending mood with reserve buying power that is at once a cushion against decline and a potential stimulating force.

Standard notes that ability of business to correct itself as it goes along should continue to mean the lessening of the threat of a major business decline.

Incidentally, inflation as a market factor isn't being talked about as it was just a few weeks ago.

Inflation psychology has its drawbacks, according to Investors Advisory Institute, and this, it adds, to a large extent explains current caution over second quarter profits.

Firestone Boosts Price of Tires

AKRON, O. (UP) — The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. today put into effect a 3 per cent price increase on most of its tires and tubes.

The company said recent advances in wages, increased costs of materials, transportation and other operating costs made the increase necessary.

Bashful Beauties

WHITSTABLE, England (UP)—Fifty of the 62 girls competing in a beauty contest here backed out at the last minute Monday. They said they were too shy to go out on the stage in front of all those people and be judged.

Two Arrested in Minor's Case by Monessen Police

Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor have been placed against two Monessen men in a case involving a 13-year-old girl, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka reported today.

Facing the charges are Chester Artis, 19, and James Kelly, 44, both of 1032 Morgan Ave. A charge of disorderly conduct has also been placed against Artis.

The girl had been reported missing from her home by her mother, who said she last saw her daughter talking to Artis about 5 p. m. yesterday. Police visited the Kelly residence, where Artis lives, but the latter and Kelly told police they hadn't seen her since 5 p. m.

Police then sent a description of the girl to district police. Charleroi police located the girl about 7 p. m. and said she was with Artis. Police believe she was in the Kelly home while they were questioning Kelly and Artis and slipped away with Artis after police left.

The girl has been turned over to her parents.

Editorials—

The Issue Is Now Perfectly Clear

WHEN Tammany Hall was wallowing in one of its more disgusting periods of corruption and arrogance, one of its bosses boasted that it could make "a Chinaman" mayor of New York City.

It must be in approximately that spirit that the bosses of the Democratic machine in Westmoreland County have nominated David H. Weiss to be a judge of the court of common pleas. Indeed, we're sure there must be many Chinese citizens of New York who hold better qualifications to be that city's mayor than Mr. Weiss possesses to preside over a court of justice.

Normally it would be a pleasure for this paper to support a fellow townsman for high public office. But Mr. Weiss' lack of credentials for this post is so glaring and we are so well aware of it from long observation that we cannot do so in good conscience. It would be a misguided sense of community pride that would assist in the election of so professionally incompetent and politically subservient a judge as Mr. Weiss would be sure to be.

* * *

IN ONE SENSE, however, his nomination is a definite public service. For the machine bosses could hardly have found a better candidate to illustrate the central question of the coming campaign, which is whether the judges of Westmoreland County are to be free and competent to dispense justice or whether they are to be the lackeys of a corrupt political machine.

The courthouse bosses have the virtue of consistency, dubious though that virtue is in politics. Mr. Weiss fits into their judicial ticket perfectly.

His running mates will be Judge Edward G. Bauer and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, both of whom have long records of neglect of duty in public office and complete subservience to partisanship of the worst kind. With Mr. Weiss to complete the trio, the bosses have a set of judicial candidates who among them have never drawn an independent breath. Tammany Hall in its most arrogant hour could not beat that.

* * *

BUT we're glad that the issue has been put to the people so clearly. They can have a court composed of judges who are owned lock, stock and barrel by a machine which specializes in stuffing ballot boxes and coddling racketeers. Or it can elect the Republican candidates and have a court in which justice under the law will have a chance to prevail.

Which, we wonder, is it going to be?

The Civil Rights Question in Focus

THE MORE the U. S. Senate hems and haws over the civil rights bill, the more apparent it is that the real purpose of the southern die-hards is to keep the Negro citizen from voting just as long as that can be managed by hook or crook.

The legalistic arguments are wearing pretty thin — the business about the states determining the qualifications of voters, the touching tributes to the jury system, the stuff about judicial tyranny. All of this is nothing but camouflage, time-consuming and issue-confusing. The real purpose of it is to keep the southern Negro in political servitude.

The Eisenhower administration's bill was drafted to meet a great and obvious need to protect the right to vote wherever that right is now denied. This is a right which is guaranteed in the Constitution itself, and the bill would simply give the federal government the power, so far as federal elections are concerned, to make the Constitution mean what it says.

However, the southern statesmen will have none of this. They do not want the Negro to have a ballot, and being very clever parliamentarians and astute politicians, they have been able to invent enough extraneous devices to prevent the Senate from acting to give the Negro a ballot.

But fortunately, nobody outside the Senate is being fooled very much. It becomes clearer by the day what the anti-civil rights senators are trying to do and what, so far, they have succeeded in doing.

And while it is most distressing to see the senior house of our Congress behave in this fashion on a question so fundamental in our democracy, the power of this clever minority is almost surely running out. We do not believe that it can go on indefinitely nullifying the Constitution for the sake of preserving a basically un-American way of life in a small section of the United States.

At this writing it is not clear whether the Senate will give President Eisenhower a civil rights bill which he can conscientiously sign. But either way, Mr. Eisenhower should be able to keep public attention focused clearly on the main issue, which is the right of Negroes in the south to vote.

From Washington—

Tito Is Urged to Free Djilas

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Marshal Josip Broz Tito
President of Yugoslavia
Belgrade
Dear Sir:

You have many friends in the United States, in the whole free world. They are your friends not because they esteem Communism. They don't. They abhor Communism, even a diluted nationalist Communism as in Yugoslavia.

They are your friends because they respect the bravery and patriotism which you showed in wresting Yugoslavia from Soviet rule. They respect the way you risked all to stand up to Stalin rather than yield to the Kremlin. They respect the way you boldly avoided being trapped by Khrushchev.

Today your friends in the West are anguished by the fact that a brilliant, courageous, patriotic Yugoslav — a once cherished, perhaps still cherished, friend of yours — Milovan Djilas, lies languishing in a Yugoslav prison cell.

Helped Tito

For many years he labored diligently by your side to help create a Communist state in Yugoslavia. As he saw and pondered the fruits of what he helped to create, he began to have misgivings. You shared many of those misgivings. Later Djilas' misgivings turned into formidable conclusions, finally into unshatterable conviction — the conviction that the greatest, most horrible mistake of his life, the greatest and most horrible mistake a part of mankind ever made, was to give birth to Communism anywhere in the world.

Today Djilas is intent upon doing his part to help the world repair its horrendous mistake at whatever risk to himself.

You know, as the whole free world knows now, that for more than two years he has been writing a devastating, closely reasoned, total denunciation of the fallacies, not merely the excrescences, of Communism.

You know, as the whole free world knows now that friends of Djilas have succeeded in smuggling the manuscript of this torrential book from his lonely cell and already delivered it, in two parts, to his New York publisher.

Ordered Publication

His word to his publisher, who will bring out the book on Aug. 12, was "Hurry, hurry; publish it, publish it as soon as possible, regardless of the consequences to me, regardless of what may happen to me before or after publication."

Marshal Tito, your friends in the West ask: What are going to be the "consequences" for your old associate, Milovan Djilas, because he has spoken his mind without fear of the consequences, knowing that he had nothing to lose but his life?

What, indeed, may happen to Djilas — before or after publication?

You once encouraged Djilas to write his criticisms of Communism, even of Yugoslav Communism. Many believe that it was with the greatest reluctance that you yielded to pressure to deprive him of party office and then to send him to jail.

His heart can be stilled but his voice can never be silenced because ideas can't be snuffed out by either a prison or a firing squad.

Even now his words are on his publisher's presses. They will be heard today and tomorrow and forever — as long as they are needed. They are earnest, honest, searing, uncompromising words of a once dedicated Communist who is exposing Communism as having spawned a new class of exploiters and nothing else — "A class whose power over men (for its own privilege and benefit) is the most complete known to history."

Marshal Tito, your friends in the West, ask: Will you not free Djilas that he may win or lose in the arena of free speech?

If you have no doubts about Communism, you have nothing to fear.

If you have doubts about Communism, you may be safer if you make Djilas a free man, safer with Djilas outside of jail than in.

Respectfully,
Roscoe Drummond

Hoffa Backer Is Confused

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — John Cowling, the Negro politician who placed the amazing full-page pro-Hoffa advertisement in the Washington edition of The Afro-American during the criminal trial of Teamster strongman Jimmy Hoffa, seemed anxious to talk about anything except the ad when finally reached on the telephone in Detroit.

Mr. Pearson

He squirmed, alibied, hesitated, and refused to give any explanation whatsoever as to who had written and paid for the inflammatory ad obviously published for the purpose of influencing the eight Negro members of the jury.

Cowling is an employe of the Wayne County treasurer's office and not exactly in a position to pay for the ad himself.

This sensational ad, plus news stories in The Afro-American, plus the presence of ex-boxing champ Joe Louis in the courtroom as the friend of Hoffa, may have helped Hoffa's surprise acquittal. Negro members of the jury, however, said that race did not enter the matter.

Mr. Cowling, when first reached on the phone in Detroit, identified himself as John Cowling, but said his son, not he, had been active in the Hoffa case. He said his son was in Washington working on civil rights. He also said that the "Detroit Citizens Civic Committee," alleged sponsor of the ad, was one of the biggest Negro organizations in Detroit.

Was Cowling Crowling?

Further inquiry proved from staff members of The Afro-American that it was John Cowling, Senior, not his son, who placed the advertisement signed "by Frank Crowling, director of the Detroit Citizens Civic Committee."

Further inquiry also developed that the Detroit Citizens Civic Committee was not registered in Detroit, was not listed in the phone book, and was unknown to such prominent Negroes as Congressman Charles Diggs of Detroit. Apparently it was a figment of someone's imagination, conjured up to make Negro jurors believe that Detroit Negroes were overwhelmingly behind Hoffa.

Negro leaders and others in Detroit also had never heard of Frank Crowling. In order to ascertain whether John Cowling was not in real fact also "Frank Crowling," I called Cowling a second time and asked him why he had not told me the truth.

"I have been in politics 20 years," he replied. "I have nothing to say."

"Your son was not active in the Hoffa matter," I questioned. "The Afro - American tells me you were."

"I work for The Pittsburgh Courier," replied Cowling, referring to one of the largest Negro newspapers.

"The Pittsburgh Courier office tells me they have never heard of you. How do you explain your placing that ad with The Afro-American?"

"I'm in the newspaper business."

"Who drafted the ad?"

"I do not know."

"Who paid for it?"

"I do not know."

"Where did you get that name, the 'Detroit Citizens Civic Committee'?"

"I do not know anything about it."

This, of course, was in direct conflict with what Cowling had said the night before; namely, that the Detroit Citizens Civic Committee was one of the biggest Negro organizations in Detroit.

"Who is Reverend Daniel James?" I asked, referring to a Negro preacher in Detroit, who, The Afro-American informed me, had come to its office with Cowling.

"I do not know," repeated Cowling.

Further attempts to elicit the truth became useless.

The Afro's Story

The Washington edition of The Afro-American which was sent to to the home of each Negro juror in the Hoffa case had this to say about Detroit Negroes who came to Washington to work for Hoffa.

"The chief counsel is John Cowling, director of the gangling metropolitan Civic Committee of Detroit The Committee is pro-Hoffa all the way, and Cowling is one of the numerous dedicated 'contact men' who are here to do what they can in the Hoffa case.

"Another is the Rev. Daniel James, also Detroit, and a staunch member of the Hoffa team.

"The names they call Cheasty (chief government witness whom Hoffa was charged with bribing) are unprintable. . . Their version of the whole sordid mess is this: Hoffa in good faith offered to hire Cheasty to obtain legal evidence."

Playing for Keeps

The Afro-American column, written by Samuel Hoskins, then proceeded:

"Within the Teamsters' membership are 167,000 colored truck drivers. Many more persons of color have important positions within the Hoffa organization. Hoffa, long before the Supreme Court dreamed of its May 17, 1954 school decision, was on the desegregation firing line.

"When Hoffa becomes president of the sprawling Teamsters' organization, the opportunities in this direction will increase tenfold.

"But on the other hand, if this champion of labor is crushed by the anti-labor forces, which also are anti-civil rights, the cause will suffer immensely.

"Such are the issues in the Hoffa-Fischback bribery trial. Somewhere beneath the charges is truth. But it will not be easy for the jurors, race and color notwithstanding, to find. To unearth the facts. . . the jurors will have to dig deep — beneath criss-crossing politics and under the muck and mire of conflicting interests.

"They will have to remember that this trial is loaded — inside and out; the stakes are high and the boys on both sides are playing for keeps."

National Affairs—

Dollar Value Drops, But Public Better Off

By EDWARD COWAN

WASHINGTON (UP)—The value of the dollar has been falling but most Americans are better off than ever before, government data indicates.

Sounds impossible? Let's see how it works out.

When economists say the value of the dollar drops, they mean that a dollar buys fewer things than it used to. The dollar itself is the same, but prices have risen.

The consumer dollar today is estimated to have a purchasing power about five-sixths of what it was worth 10 years ago.

Put another way, with the 1957-49 average of consumer goods prices equal to 100, the Bureau of Labor Statistics' latest price index stood at 120.2—an all-time high.

Yet despite this record of inflation—a record that runs back into the 19th Century — Americans on the average are able to buy more goods and services than ever before.

"Real" Income Increase

Commerce Department figures show that national average per capita "real" income in 1956 was nearly 50 per cent greater than in 1929. That is, the average American could buy 50 per cent more goods and services last year than in the heyday of the golden Twenties.

This despite the increase in taxes since then. And despite the fact that the purchasing power of the dollar (taking 1947-49 as a base of 100 cents) fell from $1.36 in $929 to 86 cents now.

The explanation of course is that average income rose faster than prices and taxes.

Economists noted that these figures are for national per capita averages. Different segments of the population have fared differently, to say nothing of differences in individual fortunes. As a class, manufacturing production workers have had the greatest gain.

Rising prices probably have had their worst effect on older folk—people who live on pensions and other kinds of fixed incomes which have not increased as much as prices.

Would Look Smaller

Today's dollar would look even smaller if its value were estimated from 1913 prices instead of the base of 1947-49 now used, in that case, the 1957 buck would be worth about 36 cents. Using this same base, last month's consumer price index number would be 284 instead of 120.2.

The government likes to avoid such long-run comparisons and such astronomical figures. It prefers to use relatively recent base periods, a spokesman said, because economic comparisons lose their significance over long periods.

In addition, it is occasionally necessary to revise the relative weighting of the components of an index. The economists feel it is good procedure to update the base at the same time. Hence, from time to time, the base period is changed. The latest switch in the consumer price base was in 1953. At that time, the 1935-39 price average was dropped in favor of 1947-49.

The change was made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics on the recommendation of the Budget Bureau's Office of Statistical Standards.

The Lighter Side—

Fall Fashions Will Stress 'Clown Look'

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) —The boys who make dresses for the more frilly girls of the world have been having their annual unveiling ceremonies in Paris, showing what's new for fall and winter, and from this distance the whole business sounds like a holy mess.

Nobody asked me for a philosophical opinion, but my notion always has been that the idea of putting clothing on the female body was to keep it warm and to try to make it look pretty, or fetching.

But the results of the Paris designers' latest brainwaves seem to be not so much pretty as—well, just plain ominous. That's the picture that emerges from the acres of earnest prose turned out by the scribes covering the shows.

Now you take hats. Are the new ones pretty? They're downright scary. Listen to this:

Permanent Gone Wrong

"Hats often look like a frizzled home permanent gone wrong. Head hugging and hair hiding, they look the way a hangover feels, bulky and fuzzy."

And this: "An enormous hat which looked like a sea urchin. . ."

Or this: "Latest hats have been put on a dummy and cut with a special razor to give a new fuzzy look."

And still another: "Long, jutting-out bonnets, resembling dunce caps and blown-up helmets. . ."

The strange look in hats that are sprouting on the other side of the ocean inspired a lady in our office to observe: "They sound as if they'd be ideal for girls with pointed heads."

Spent and panting from one of the shows, a lady reporter gasped out a paragraph beginning: "Hats are pie-plate flat, lie smack on top of the head. Upside-down bowls covering the hair are worn at any angle. Any and everything gets into the hair. Black feather-dusters perch above the eyes. . .a bowl of sea-moss fresh from off a sea rock was spiked with a pink rose and jauntily tipped one eyebrow."

Her Crowning Glory

It gets into my hair, too. A woman's hair is her crowning glory, and why should it be topped with an absurdity or a monstrosity?

"Turban hats," wrote one journalist, "start at the hairline and stretch out behind like wind-socks at an airfield."

As for the rest of the body, the consensus seems to be that this year it be clothed in stuff that is as shapeless as possible.

"Just a gunny sack with diamonds," is the way one reporter described the new dress look which she said is sweeping Europe.

Taking the whole effort of the designing boys — with special emphasis on the hat creations—and trying to find an overall title for their 1957 work, let's give it a name it's begging for:

The clown look.

At the White House—

Eisenhower Angered By Legislative Blows

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

Seldom has President Eisenhower's anger and displeasure been more evident than during the past week. The reason: The treatment given his civil rights and school construction programs by Congress.

Members of his legislative liaison staff were progressively long-faced as the Chief Executive suffered probably the sharpest setbacks of his White House career at the hands of Congress.

On Thursday and Friday, he was edgy and testy; his indignation boiled over Friday morning when he learned that the Senate had passed the jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill. His staff caught the first brunt of his anger, but then the President poured out his feelings to Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich.) who left the White House somewhat amazed at the stormy weather in the President's office.

There was more fuel for the Eisenhower fires last week—the criticism of his appointment of Maxwell Gluck as ambassador to Ceylon, plus the nationally syndicated article placing the President's net worth at about one million dollars. Eisenhower blows up over efforts to pry into his private life and woe betide the White House staff member who inquires into his personal finances.

His predecessor, former President Truman, also used to get quite foamy when people, particularly writers, attempted to pry into his private finances or pretended to know the state of his bank account.

When a President gets sore, the reaction is somewhat like widening circles on a still pond after a rock is tossed in the water. The top echelon of the staff gets a bawling out because of a setback on Capitol Hill and within an amazingly short time, a lowly messenger may find himself at the receiving end of a massive bawling out for something exceedingly trivial.

One big question around the White House as this week began was the possible effects of Eisenhower's current mood on his vacation plans. With the House leadership dropping plans for a series of recesses, the President may stay here until Congress adjourns.

A HORSE DRAWN CART — Myrto Anagnostou provides transportation for her American houseguest, Georgetta Vernaccini, of Monessen, in a horse drawn cart. This is a popular means of getting about the streets and suburbs of Athens, where Miss Vernaccini is spending the summer under the American Field Summer Program for sending students abroad.

Life in Greece Provides Education for Local Girl

Georgetta Vernaccini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Vernaccini, of Montraver Dr., is learning first hand how the other half lives. For the past two years the Monessen High School exchange students have made their homes with her and she has learned much about their homelands by the associations.

This summer, however, she is getting her education a different way. She is spending the summer months in Athens, Greece. Chosen for this opportunity by the American Field Summer Program, Miss Vernaccini has expressed a keen interest in archaeology and ancient history, and the study of both are available to her.

On Vacation

Primarily she is just "on vacation", and is visiting with 16 year old Myrto Anagnostou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kleanthis Anagnostou, 104 Mavromihali St., Athens. She arrived there on July 8 and will remain there until Aug. 26. On Aug. 29 she will board an ocean liner for home and is expected to arrive here Sept. 9.

Miss Vernaccini has visited many historical points of interest in the weeks spent abroad. She has seen the ancient ruins and sites she has studied about in her history book. Her parents have received glowing descriptive letters and numerous snapshots of her new found friends.

See Expedition

All of her tours are not educational, and she is presently vacationing with her hostess at Loutraki, a summer resort. She will turn her thoughts to a more serious phase of her visit next week when she witnesses the American Archaeology expedition in action near Athens.

The Bric-ettes Entertain at Annual Banquet

Members of the Bric-ettes held their annual banquet on Saturday at Holiday House in Monroeville. After the serving the group enjoyed the entertainment at the club, which featured Johnnie Puleo.

The women had their husbands as guests for the social affair.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. William Cathers, of Lynnwood; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mucci, of Perryopolis: Mr. and Mrs. George Ribik, of Donora; Mr. and Mrs. James Lutes, of Bentleyville; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Margoni, of Monongahela and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Susko, of Donora.

Pictures were taken during the evening.

Former Area Girl Is Wed In New Mexico

Kathy Bibby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bibby, of 1422 South Country Club Circle, Carlsbad, N. M., became the bride of Wayne Modrall, on June 22. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Modrall, of Carlsbad.

The Bibby family formerly lived in West Newton.

Their wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. H. Keahy, of Cavern Baptist Church, officiating.

Only the immediate families and friends of the couple attended.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of pure silk and carried a white Bible topped with pink carnations.

Arlene Shevel Is Bride at Heinz Chapel Ceremony

Wed in Heinz Chapel at the University of Pittsburgh were Arlene Shevel, of 908 Ross Ave., Pittsburgh, and Blaine L. Leidy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Leidy, of Conemaugh R. D. 1.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lee Shevel, Sr. of River Hill, former residents of Monessen.

The Shevel-Leidy nuptials took place on Saturday, Aug. 3, at 7:30 p. m. Officiating at the rites were the Rev. Dr. W. O. H. Garman, of Wilkinsburg and the Rev. Dr. Marvin Taylor, of the University of Pittsburgh.

Dorothy Shevel, of New Castle, sister of the bride, was the soloist, and Wilma Leidy, sister of the bridegroom, was at the organ.

Matron of Honor

Matron of honor was Mrs. William Hannold, of Bedford, sister of the bride.

The best man was Gerald A. Leidy, brother of the bridegroom. He is a resident of Carlisle. Ushers were Wilbert Lee Shevel, brother of the bride, Alfred B. Lang and Carl E. Dorer.

For her wedding the bride chose to wear a waltz length gown of gossamer nylon tulle with sequin embroidered appliques sprinkled over the skirt. She wore a matching headpiece and sheer veil. Her bouquet was of white roses in a cascade arrangement.

The matron of honor wore a ballerina gown of nylon tulle over yellow. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mothers Present

Mrs. Shevel selected a dress of mauve lace with a matching hat and accessories of black. Her corsage was of butterscotch shaded carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore mauve crepe with a matching hat, white accessories and a butterscotch carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Leidy are spending several days in the Pocono Mountains, leaving following the reception held at the Fairfax Hotel, Pittsburgh. They will reside at 258 Barclay Ave., Pittsburgh.

Guests attended the wedding from Monessen, Johnstown, Warren, New Castle, Bedford, Mercersburg, Carlisle and West Virginia.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Many Fans Defend Bobby Bragan

Well, it's all over but the shouting but there seems to be plenty of that (shouting) following the firing of Bobby Bragan as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Surprisingly enough, despite the criticism heaped on Bragan while he piloted the Bucs, there were many, many fans sympathetic toward Brash Bobby when it was revealed he had been given the pink slip. Comments ranged from "He'll be a great manager with a good ball club," "He was a good manager but he clowned too much" to derogatory remarks like "He was a poor pilot" or the more curt "He was a bum." Regardless of denials from the Buc front office we think the "orange-drink" episode helped grease the skids for Robert. Time and future assignments will decide his managerial abilities.

Don Skekles, local Little League pilot, took in the Brownsville-Portage Little League tilt at Latrobe the other night and came away singing the praises of Bob Moore, the Brownie "superboy" who showed so well here when Brownsville topped the locals. In fact, Don thinks the Brownsville team has "it" to go to Williamsport, which they will if they won last night's tilt at Indiana. . In the Portage game Brownsville clubbed seven home runs in winning, 17-2. Moore had a homer and hurled a two-hitter . . . Pennsylvania entries in the Little League World Series have not been able to win the series of late. Monongahela and Masontown went to the final game but dropped the "big one."

Local LL Nine Has Girl Scorekeeper

The Park Amoco team of the local Little League boasts the youngest and perhaps only female scorekeeper in Elaine Hughes, 13-year-old, who jots down the runs, hits and errors for her Dad's PA nine. Dad, who is William (Bill) Hughes, has been bringing up young ball players for quite some time. Now he goes a step further and is bringing up young score-keepers. Young Mike Kunsa of the Ozarks has had fans at the games guessing but now the "cat's out of the bag." The women fans have especially noted the bulge in Mike's jaw when he is playing and were perturbed that such a young player would be a "chawer" but it turns out Mike, for some unexplained reason, likes to keep a peach seed in his mouth while on the diamond!

Standing for Mon Valley League action as they appear in today's Daily Independent are correct. Due to postponements and protests there had been some question as to the correct standings but a check with Commissioner George Kuvinka showed those appearing in today's "Daily" as correct . . . The crowd was so terrific and the financial returns so encouraging from the Tri-County-City Softball League All-Star game here the other night that both leagues are planning to make the match an annual affair. President Ted Nichols of the TCSL and Dibby DiBiaso of the City League were overjoyed at the turnout and the terrific brand of ball played by both teams. They claim it was one of the finest softball games they had ever seen.

Now There is a Nick Mahalko No. 3!

Now its Nick Mahalko III. He is the eight-pound son of Nick, Jr., and grandson of Nick, Sr., who is an old-time diamond and basketball standout in the valley. Granddad also coached in both sports here. Daddy Nick plays for the Charleroi Merchants. The new addition now makes another former Mahalko sports standout, Frank, a great uncle . . . Don DiNardo, of Ellsworth has been named California State Teachers College's outstanding sportsman in intramural activity. A first-string football quarterback, he played for both the basketball and softball teams that won intramural titles, following his gridiron feats.

Today's Sports Parade—

NFL Development Top Sports Story—Bert Bell

By BERT BELL

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The development of the National Football League, now in its 38th year, is one of the most remarkable sports stories of the past half century, in my opinion.

Thirteen teams were represented in Canton, Ohio, in September, 1920, when the American Football Association was formed with Jim Thorpe as president. In June, 1922 George Halas, one of the pioneers of professional football, made a motion that the name of the league be changed to the National Football League and it was unanimously adopted.

In 1926 there were 22 teams in the league, the largest number ever. The least number of teams to play in a season was eight in 1932. Since 1951 the number of teams in the league has remained constant at 12.

Business in the league has not always been as good as it is today. Over the years 42 clubs have gone out of business, an indication that the road to the top has not been strewn with roses.

To bring about the change that has made the National Football League successful, methods were devised which stimulated competition by enabling the less successful clubs to engage and retain the services of the better college players.

In 1934, when I was the owner of the Philadelphia Eagles, I proposed to the league that they adopt a selective draft. This was adopted and in 1936 the first selection was made.

The annual selection operates to benefit the lower teams in the standings at the end of the season preceding the selection. The team that finished last in the standings draws first and on up to the team that wins the championship playoff game of the two conferences, which draws last.

Thus each year the teams are brought to a more equal footing insofar as player personnel is concerned. This makes for better games, keener competition among the teams, greater spectator interest and enthusiasm and in the best interest of the public and the player.

That the annual selection has borne fruit is evidenced by the paid attendance figures during the years it has been in operation. In 1936 the total paid attendance for the season was 816,007. Last year the attendance rose to 2,551,263. In the last five years the attendance record has been broken each year.

This, of course, has meant greater income to the player; which over the last 11 years has increased on the average approximately 300 per cent.

Briggs Beats Ozarks on Three-Hitter

Three Teams Now Tied for 4th In MV League

It was a case of too much Freddie Briggs at Charleroi last night as the Merchants topped the Monessen Ozarks, 5-3, on Briggs' three-hitter in which he fanned six batters and walked six batters.

Monessen's loss coupled with a New Eagle defeat at the hands of Donora, 4-3 developed a four-way tie for fourth place between the Ozarks, New Eagle and Donora all with 20-18 marks. In the only other game played last night Perry topped Fayette City, 8-1, to put Charleroi within a half-game of first place Legionnaires.

The Ozarks' Bill Mitnick allowed nine hits but five of them were for extra bases, Briggs getting two doubles, Carmen Cappelli, his battery mate, a double and triple and George Zuraw a triple. Neil Hill blasted a double for the only Monessen extra-base knock.

Led Three Times

Monessen actually tied the game three times at 1-1, 2-2 and 3-3 but couldn't make up the final two markers.

After the Merchants made it 1-0 in the first, the locals came back in the second with Carl Crawley walking and advancing on a fielder's choice and two errors to score the tying marker.

In the third Manager Pappy Johnson reached base on an error but was forced by Bob Mastracci and injured on the slide. Hill's double then scored Mastracci.

The third deadlock came in the fourth after Charleroi had regained the lead at 3-2 in the third when Zuraw walked, was trapped off first but made it all the way to third on two Ozark errors and scored on Roy Barli's single. The Ozarks' fourth found the sacks loaded on walks and Merchant errors when Mike Kunsa batting for Danko singled to score Rotheram but Kunsa was picked off first and that was all for the Ozarks.

Tonight the Ozarks travel to Perry for a tough test. Tomorrow night's New Eagle-Ozark game has been changed to Thursday at New Eagle.

Donora Edges New Eagle, 4-3

Donora sent the Mon Valley playoff scramble into a three-way tie for fourth place with a 4-3 win over New Eagle last night as Novak bested Vic Furiga on the mound.

The winning run scored in the sixth for Donora after the CIOers had come back from a 3-1 first inning deficity when Melvin Mills, former Monessen High standout, hit safely, stole second, was sacrificed to third and stole home.

New Eagle, Donora and Monessen now have 20-18 mark.

Myfords, Ravens in CSL Wins

It was the Myfords and the Ravens in the first night of twin bills in the City Softball League at City Park last night.

Opening action saw Jock Senich make his first start on the mound for the Myfords entry and blank the ULBA team, 9-0, on four hits. Meanwhile, his mates scored enough runs in the very first frame to win the contest when five runs crossed the plate. Then added three in the fourth, one in the fifth.

Top hitters for the winners were Bill Stanto with a double and single, Dick DiCenzo with two singles while Joe Karbowsky had two bingles for the losing ULBAs. Senich also clubbed a two-bagger.

In the second game the Ravens moved into fifth place with a 10-7 victory over MPSA.

The Ravens took a 4-2 lead after three innings but it was the six markers in the fifth which clinched the game considering the four scored by the losers in the last three frames.

Willie Bronson, the losing hurler, clouted a triple for the only extra base blow of the game.

Action continues tonight with the protested Italian Hall-ULBA game starting in the fifth inning or point of protest and followed immediately by the regularly scheduled game between the same two teams.

CIO Wins Playoff Opener in LL, 9-4

CIO entry of the National Division of the local Little League took a one game lead in their championship series with the VFW nine of the American Division at the Stadium Annex last night.

The 9-4 loss was a tough one for the Vets' Richard Steele, who had a no-hitter going until the fourth when CIO garnered eight runs on seven singles and a double. He also homered attempting to aid his own cause.

Eton Karenchak of the Unionmen nine hurled a six-hitter, fanning 11 for the winners.

James Beeler of the VFW doubled as did Ralph Nuzzaci and William Runfola of the Union entry for the only other extra base blows.

Tonight the same two teams go at it again in the second game of their title series.

MVL Sets Playoff Ruling

It was decided at a meeting of the Mon Valley League teams last night that should Fayette City and Charleroi tie for first place a playoff will be held Sunday at Fayette City, the first of a best-of-three series.

Should a tie develop for fourth place a three-game series will also be held.

It was agreed, however, that should a deadlock develop for third place only a sudden death playoff would be necessary.

Commissioner George Kuvinka announced that all playoff tilts must start promptly at 5:45 o'clock with three new balls in play. A new ball must be added at the top of the third inning.

The ball will be permitted to be thrown around the infield only after putouts in order to conserve time, he added.

A change in the schedule had Monessen traveling to New Eagle Thursday instead of New Eagle coming here today.

Donora Advances In PONY Playoffs

Chuck Guiffrida clouted a 2-2 pitch for a grand-slam homer in the last of the 11th inning to advance is team to the Region 2 PONY League semi-finals with a win over Munhall, 6-2.

Art Galiffa opened the winning rally with a single and moved up on safe bunts by Dave Kostolansky and Ed Niziolek. Giuffrida then came through with his smash off Tommy Murtaugh, son of Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Nizoilek and Elmer Palm also hit homers for the winners and Mihaly had one for Munhall.

Donora will face the winner of tonight's Washington — Connellsville replay in the regional semi-finals.

The winner tonight will face Donora, 6-2 conqueror of Munhall, in the regional semifinals.

Perryopolis Blasts Fayette City, 8-1

Perry handed Fayette City its third straight Mon Valley League defeat last night, 8-1, on the Perry diamond.

The win enabled Perry to hold its chances of remaining in the approaching playoffs. Fayette City, in first place, and runnerup Charleroi, are assured of playoff berths.

Bernard Farkus' perfect day at the plate featured for Perry yesterday. He slugged a home run and a triple among his four safeties.

Bill Thomas connected for a three-bagger for the winners and Bill Lutes did likewise for Fayette City.

Pulled Short Irons

I played in a friendly round the other day with a fellow who was so intent on keeping his head down that he ignored certain other basic principles of hitting the ball straight. So firmly did he anchor his head that he tended to swing flat footed.

The usual result was that, although he hit the ball solidly enough, he pulled it off to the left. The effect was especially noticeable on the short irons.

Keeping the head down is great — but it can be overdone! In any good golf swing, the head will be PULLED up and around at the end of the follow through. Resist this pull and you wind up with a flat-footed swing and shots pulled too far to the left.

When you picture the swing you are about to make, think of hitting through the ball with the head still firmly in place — and then having the force of the swing pull you around in position to follow the flight of the ball with the eyes.

South Hills Bests Butler In Prep Series

MUNHALL, Pa. (UP)—South Hills whipped its Western Pennsylvania neighbor from Butler Monday night, 4-1, in the opening round of the Prep League World Series here.

Biff Giess, in an impressive pitching stint, struck out 10 Butler batters, while Paul Elpinstone paced the South Hills batting attack with the only home run of the day. It came in the fifth with none aboard.

In other games, Charleston, W. Va., capitalizing on walks, errors and hit batters, posted an easy 7-1 victory over defending champion Waltham, Mass. All of the Charleston runs were unearned as Waltham committed five errors.

Rome, Ga. scored four runs in the third inning to down Wilmette, Ill., 6-3. Rome fought from behind a 2-0 deficit. The Georgians combined a double and three back-to-back singles for their four-run third.

First round play in the double elimination contest will be completed today when Massillon, Ohio, meets Rochester, N.Y., at 2 p.m. e.d.t.

The losers begin second round play today. Waltham plays Wilmette at 6 p.m. and Butler takes on the loser of the Massillon-Rochester game.

States Set Specific '57-'58 Hunting Dates

WASHINGTON (UP)—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton today announced the specific hunting dates selected by the states for the shooting of doves, rails, gallinues, woodcock, and band-tailed pigeons during the 1957-58 season.

The Fish and Wildlife Service announced July 5 the states must select their hunting dates between Sept. 1 and Jan. 10, except for woodcock. The framework for the woodcock season was Oct. 1 through Jan. 20.

The waterfowl season for Alaska also was included in today's announcement, as well as the seasons on scoter, eider, and old-squaw ducks in the northeastern states.

The department noted that state conservation departments are permitted to adopt regulations which may be more restrictive than federal regulations. It advised persons who plan to hunt these birds to obtain a copy of current state regulations.

The regulations include open seasons by states, bag and possession limits, and the exceptions to the usual shooting hours of one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Following are the seasons for the various birds:

Bucs Back Home With New Pilot

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Danny Murtaugh and his last-place Pittsburgh Pirates face the Philadelphia Phillies tonight at Forbes Field.

No one could deny Danny had his work cut out. First in line was to snap an eight-game losing streak, climaxed by a double loss to Chicago Sunday. The Pirate manager's choice to do the job was Ron Kline, who with a 2-15 record is fighting hard to stay this side of a twenty-game losing season. For the Phils, it will be Curt Simmons (10-7) on the mound.

Next in line on Murtaugh's agenda presumably will be to tighten up the Pirate pitching. Murtaugh has done some thinking on the matter as evidenced by his answer to a question whether he would use starting pitchers for relief.

"I will have a starting rotation and the bullpen will be separate," Murtaugh said.

He named Bob Friend, Kline, Vernon Law, Bob Purkey and possibly Whammy Douglas as five starters.

Meanwhile, ousted manager Bobby Bragan signed a $10,000 per year contract Monday to manage Almandares of the Cuban League.

Braves Tie For Minors Top Spot

Holding off a Pirate rally, the Braves copped an 8-4 decision in Little League Minors play here yesterday and tied for first place with the Bucs.

Both now own 11-5 marks.

Danny Cosner hurled a two-hitter for the Braves, receiving hitting help from the Williams who homered and O'Toole who tripled. Major Corley had the losers' only extra-base blow, a triple.

Cosner fanned 14 and walked on four batters. He had a no-hitter going until the Czelen singled in the last frame.

Rockets Edge Sox In Prep League, 11-10

Three runs in the last inning weren't enough for the White Sox as they fell short by a run in dropping a 11-10 decision to the Rockets in Prep League action yesterday.

Ray Kolich of the Sox doubled for the only extra-base blow but Robert Burns had three singles for the winners. Ray Johnston two for five for the winners.

Spectators Injured at St. Nick Fight

NEW YORK (UP)—Pigeons and firecrackers will be officially banned Thursday from future TV bouts at St. Nicholas Arena because of Monday night's disorders that resulted in the hospitalization of two spectators, one arrest and the egg-pelting of ringsiders.

Deputy Boxing Commissioner Joe Tepper today ordered promoter Teddy Brenner, welterweight Eddie Lynch and manager Bill Carfaro to appear at commission headquarters Thursday for a "dressing down."

Lynch of New York, who has a large and noisy following known as "Pandemonium, Inc.," lost a split eight-round decision to Danny (Bang Bang) Russo of Brooklyn Monday night. It was a bloody fight, during which Russo's equally noisy Brooklyn followers were alleged to have thrown the eggs—hens' eggs—not pigeons

Two spectators, struck by thrown chairs, were having their injuries X-rayed today at Roosevelt Hospital, where they were taken in an ambulance from St. Nick's. Abraham Lessner suffered a torn scalp and possible skull fracture. Nick Gravina sustained a compound fracture of the nose. Both are New Yorkers.

Promoter Brenner was surprised that the Lynch and Russo followers got out of hand. At previous Lynch bouts, his followers had been noisy with their released pigeons, fire crackers, bugles, stamping and yelling; but nothing had been thrown.

Russo, weighing 148 pounds to Lynch's 151, won an upset split decision after suffering a deep and bloody gash on his cheek in the fourth round. Lynch's left brow was cut in the seventh.

Argentine Wins Tam O'Shanter Top $3,500 Award

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO (UP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, a lucky South American, escaped the Meican earthquake to play in Tam O'Shanter's All American tourney and then survived a man-made quake to win the $3,500 top prize.

The man-made tremor was Gene Littler's final round 63. Nine under par, tieing the 9-year-old course record set by Lloyd Mangrum, but the blazing finish earned him only second money as De Vicenzo coasted to a 70, two-under-par, for a 72-hole total of 273, 15 under par, for the first money.

Littler took second prize of $2,300 with a 277 total while Sam Snead, in second place heading into the final round, posted a 278 for $1,800, and Paul Harney took 279 for fourth and $1,500.

Played It Safe

De Vicenzo, scoring his first win in 15 tries at Tam O'Shanter's twin tournaments, said he played "safe." He revealed that he left Mexico City the night of the recent earthquake after driving his family to safety.

Littler's burst, which was the first time Mangrum's record has been tied, came close to a bigger prize.

There was a four-way tie for fifth place among the men pros between Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa.; Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Te., and Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, at 281, each winning $1,150.

Fifth Tourney Win

Patty Berg, Chicago, posted a final round 75 to win the women pro division of the tourney for the fifth time with a total of 302. Her previous wins were in 1943 with 307, in 1945 with 312, in 1953 with 308 and in 1955 with 302.

Her $1,500 victory moved her from fourth to first place in earnings for 1957 with $9,768.

Jackie Pung, Honolulu, matched par with 304 for second money of $1,000, and Kathy Cornelius, Dayton, Ohio; Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay, and Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C., each won $700 for tieing for third at 305.

Ann Creed, 18, Opelousas, La., won the women's amateur title with a last-round 79 for 320. Tied for second were Sandra Clifford, Meico City, and Lois Drafke, Chicago, with 332.

British Open Wightman Drills At Edgewood Club

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Four blondes and a brunette open practice today to try and do what no other British women's tennis team has done since 1930 — beat the Americans in the Wightman Cup matches.

In a morning session the Americans warmed up confident they could successfully defend the title the United States has won 24 out of 28 times.

The Wightman Cup play begins Saturday at nearby Edgeworth Tennis Club. Two singles and a doubles match will be played the first day and three singles and a doubles match are scheduled for Sunday. Each victory is worth one point and four points assures the crown.

Play this year, for the first time in the competition's history, will be on other than a grass court. The Edgeworth Club has a teniko finish, a factor which both sides admit will give the British an edge.

"The British girls have more opportunity to play on composition courts," conceded Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont, the American captain.

Representing the British will be Sheila Armstrong, 18, Ann Haydon, 18, and 16-year-old Christine Truman, all newcomers to Wightman competition. Also on the squad are veterans Shirley Bloomer and Ann Shilcock.

Playing with Mrs. DuPont on the American squad are Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson, former Wimbledon titleholder Louise Brough, Pennsylvania state champion Dorothy Head Knode and Wimbledon runner-up Darlene Hard.

Giambra-Welch

RENO, Nev. (UP) — Joe Giambra of Buffalo, N.Y., and Jimmy Welch of Columbus, Ohio, will meet tonight in a return 10-round middleweight bout. Giambra earned a split decision over Welch in their first fight two years ago.

Don Drysdale Comes of Age as Major League Hurler for Bums

By TIM MORIARTY

Long Don Drysdale, who celebrated his 21st birthday only two weeks ago, also has come of age as a major league pitcher.

The 6-foot-4 right hander was less than two years out of high school when he joined the Brooklyn Dodgers last season but still managed to win five games, four against the hated New York Giants.

With that one year of experience behind him, the Dodgers predicted big things for the lanky Californian this spring and young Don is living up to his notices.

Ninth Of Year

Although he allowed 10 hits, including four to Willie Mays, Drysdale fast-balled his way to a 5-2 victory over his favorite New York "cousins" Monday night in the only National League action. It was his ninth triumph of the season, tieing him with Don Newcombe and Johnny Podres for the most victories on the Dodger staff.

Drysdale's career record against the Giants now stands at 6-1. He never has lost to them as a starter, suffering his lone defeat during a relief stint at the Polo Grounds earlier this season.

However, Mays almost ruined that gaudy record with another of his one-man-gang performances. Willie was involved in an automobile accident only hours before the game but proved he was okay in the third inning when he tagged Drysdale for a two-run homer that put the Giants ahead 2-1.

Hits Three Singles

Mays also picked up three singles along the way so when he came up with two men on and two out in the ninth inning, Dodger Manager Walt Alston yanked Drysdale in favor of Clem Labine, who retired Willie on an infield grounder

Ray Crone, pitching his first complete game as a Giant, was tagged for nine hits. The Dodgers tied the game at 2-2 in their half of the third, scored their decisive run in the fifth and then added a pair of insurance runs in the seventh.

In an American League day game, the Cleveland Indians snapped the New York Yankees' eight-game winning streak, 7-2. Gene Woodling drove in five runs with a single and a three-run homer, while Mike Garcia gave up nine hits in beating the Yanks for the first time since Aug. 3, 1955. Don Larsen was the losing pitcher.

Tigers Pay Rookie $25,000

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—The Detroit Tigers paid $25,000 to 19-year-old George Thomas Monday and now are wondering where they'll play their latest bonus rookie.

Thomas, who just completed his sophomore year at the University of Minnesota, has played every position but catcher.

"We had to get him now," said General Manager Johnny McHale who accompanied the Tigers to Minneapolis for an exhibition game with the Cincinnati Redlegs. "There were a lot of clubs going after him and we didn't want to wait too long."

Thomas was hitting .409 in a Minneapolis semi-pro league when the Tigers signed him as well as posting a 2-0 mark when he wasn't playing shortstop, third base or the outfield.

Mill at Irvin Works to Go Down

WEST MIFFLIN, Pa. (UP)—The 80-inch strip mill at the Irvin Works of U.S. Steel Corp. will be shut down for two weeks Aug. 11 to complete a new reheating furnace.

The tin-finishing division will operate normally during the shutdown, the company said, while other departments will be closed for about a week.

Authority Reports New Installations

According the annual report made by the Municipal Authority of the Borough of Belle Vernon, the authority installed 3,050 feet of new distribution mains, which represent an expenditure of $14,73 732.

This major improvement was a continuation of a program for the installation of larger mains to replace and supplement inadequate lines to improve service to the Orchard plan of lots, and the recenty added section in the vicinity of Allen's Crossroads.

Another major improvement was the installation of 1,388 feet of new main which is eight inches in diameter.

The authority's total operating revenue for 1956 was $74,920 and this was an increase of $1,266 over the operating revenue for 1955. Total operating expenses were $43,-991, a decrease of $203 over 1955.

Make Plans for State Elections

HARRISBURG (UP) — Leaders of both major parties in Pennsylvania today prepared to drum up support at the grass roots levels for the November elections for control of county courthouses and municipal offices.

The Democrats, headed by Gov. George M. Leader, moved on to Pittsburgh today for the opening of a series of meetings with the party's county leaders and candidates, with emphasis on a registration drive designed to attract at least another 175,000 voters to the Democratic ranks.

The party leaders will then go on to Sharon, Williamport, Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg and wind up at Reading Aug. 15.

Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr announced at the Pittsburgh meeting the appointment of Roy A. Schafer of Cumberland County as director of the Young Democratic Division of the state committee.

Schafer served as Barr's assistant during the 1956 campaign while on a leave of absence as a deputy attorney general.

On the Republican side, state Chairman George I. Bloom will speak at GOP picnics in three counties this week, centering his political fire against the governor for vetoes of 119 bills passed by the 1957 Republican - controlled Legislature.

Bloom will speak at the Mark Community Park, Indiana, Tuesday; Riverside Park, Greenville, Mercer County, Aug. 7, and at Camp Potato, Potter County, Aug. 9.

The GOP regional meetings will be held Sept. 9-19 throughout the state, attended by Bloom and other party leaders.

Wilson Talks with Possible Successor

WASHINGTON (UP) — Soap manufacturer Neil H. McElroy planned another conference with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson today to talk about succeeding him.

Sources here believed McElroy, $285,000-a-year president of Procter and Gamble, has the $22,500-a-year job sewed up if he wants it.

An aide to the 52-year-old businessman told the United Press McElroy is considering the change that taking the position would require him to make—"what he has to do to take it on, the conflict of interest" problem and other matters.

"This is the nature of the considerations that are going on," the spokesman said. He added "it's obvious some consideration is being given to him" for the post.

The administration was believed to be giving top priority to finding a successor for Wilson so the nomination can be confirmed before Congress adjourns.

Wilson has indicated he wants to end his government career this fall.

Sen. George Is Buried in Georgia

VIENNA, Ga. (UP) — Former Sen. Walter F. George, his statesmanship in foreign affairs praised by the nation's leaders, was buried in Georgia clay late Monday with this tribute of his minister:

"He hath showed thee, O man, what is good and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?"

The Rev. L. C. Cutts quoted this passage from Micah (VI, 8) in his 45-minute service for George in the First Baptist Church packed with dignitaries from Washington and the Georgia Democrat's local friends. Hundreds of persons heard the service over loudspeakers outside.

George died Sunday following a six-week illness from heart disease. He had been appointed President Eisenhower's personal envoy to NATO on retiring last January after 34 years in the Senate.

Boy Chokes to Death on Hot Dog

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (UP)- A three-year-old boy choked to death Monday when a hot dog he was eating odged in his throat.

John Bowers, of (2160 W. Norwegian St.) Pottsville was taken to the Warne Hospital when his parents were unable to stop his choking.

Dr. A. Wesley Hildreth said the child died of suffocation when a half inch section of the hot dog became lodged in his throat.

State Forests 'Critically' Dry

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Forests and Waters Department warned today that the state's forest lands are "fast approaching a stage of critical fire hazard" due to the current drought throughout the state.

The department's Hydrography Division reported the present water flows in the state's major rivers are "far below" that of last summer, a strong indication of the extent of the drought.

The department said the Lehigh River at Bethlehem registered a flow of 540 feet per second, compared with 1,360 feet last year at this time, and the Schuylkill River showed 367 feet per second, compared with 856 on Aug. 1, 1956.

At Harrisburg, the Susquehanna River flow was reported to be only about one-quarter of the flow reported last year.

The department warned that "a continued shortage of precipitation could curtail our water supply to an extent causing grounds for serious concern," and warned visitors to the state forests lands to exercise "extreme caution" to avoid fire hazards.

Large Cracks in Las Vegas Dams

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (UP)—Clear skies today reduced the threat of further large cracks in three upriver earthen dams that sent a flash flood through Las Vegas and nearby communities Monday.

Huge pieces of the dams gave way under the strain of recent rains in the Sangre De Cristo Mountains, drowning two men.

Searchers late Monday recovered the bodies of Emil LaPorte of Sapello, N.M., and his 10-year-old daughter, Laura.

A 55-year-old man requires twice as much light to see objects at night as he needed when he was a teenager.

Erie Soldier Is Held by French

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (UP)—An Erie, Pa., soldier was held by French police today and charged with causing the death of a French civilian in an automobile accident.

Specialist 3-c Frederick J. Gehredes, of 2004 Berst Ave., Erie, was accused in the death of Raymond Remy, 29.

Four other persons were injured when Gehredes' car went out of control and struck a parked car which in turn hit two other cars that crushed a group having a picnic by the roadside, police said.

Gehredes is stationed with a signal unit at SHAPE Headquarters. Army spokesmen said the French would have the right to try him under the Status of Forces Act since the soldier was off duty at the time of the accident.

The Egyptians made artificial eyes of glass, feldspar, pearl and ivory as far back as 2,600 years before the birth of Christ.

Fayette City Class Of 37 Holds Reunion

Eighteen members of the Class of 1937 of the former Fayette City High School, with their wives and husbands attended their twenty-year reunion on Saturday evening at the Park Casino, Monessen.

The affair opened with dinner, and was followed by a short talk by each member telling of his activities during the past twenty years. Eugene Williams, a chaplain in the United States Air Force, recently returned from Greece, gave a most interesting tale of his life

A business meeting was conducted by the president, Marian Cameron Wingert of Tarrytown, New York Officers were elected to serve until a future reunion. Named to office were Willard Auther, president; James Hamer, vice president; Walter Ridgway, secretary and June Brightwell, treasurer. The retiring officer, in addition to Mrs. Wingert, were Melvin Bell, Perryopolis, vice president; Mary Yakim Lazzari, secretary and James Levi, treasurer.

A prize was awarded to Mr. Williams for traveling the longest distance. He is enroute to a new assignment in Kentucky. Don Croushore, New Cumberland had the largest family. Mrs. Glenn Shepler, Belle Vernon, had been married the longest, James Hamer was the baldest and Mrs Lazzari had the youngest baby. All were given prizes

Each lady present was given a corsage Arrangements were made by Mrs Shepler, Mrs. Virginia McDonald Rubis, Mrs Lazzari and Mrs. Wesley Hines.

Out of town members attending were Eugene Williams, Thomas Williams, Blairsville, Pa; Don Croushore, New Cumberland, Ralph Makepeace, Elizabeth; Earl Gardner, Springfield, Ohio; Mrs Wingert, Tarrytown, N Y.; Mrs. Shelper and Mrs Lazzari, Belle Vernon. Williams, Croushore and Makepeace all are in one of the services of the Armed Forces

Accept Bid in Street Paving

Fayette City Borough Council met on Thursday evening, Aug. 1 to open bids for materials to pave Short, Plum, Spalter and Prospect Streets in the hill section of town.

The meeting was in charge of the president, John Canigiani who ordered the borough secretary, Edward Shook, to open the bids and read to the members present. Two bids were submitted. C. S. Yoder offered No. 4 agragate at $2.43, No. 1 agragate at $2.53, and amacite at $9 06 per ton. The Burrell Company bid only on amacite at $9.60. LeRoy Gardner made the motion to accept Yoder's bid The vote was unammous.

The streets have been laid out and curbs set for several months. The materials will be delivered at the request of council and the work will be done by county labor. The job is expected to be completed within the next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Baldwin Sr, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ermlich and two children of Fayette City, with Mr and Mrs. Wellington Baldwin, Jr and two children of Charleroi spent the past week end vacationing near Cambridge Springs, Pa.

Judge Wants Stars To Testify in Confidential Case

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker warned today he would issue bench warrants and send uniformed officers to haul into court any of the more than 100 subpenaed movie stars who fail to appear as scheduled at the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial.

The warning came as the trial entered its third day with the selection of a jury still not completed. Both the prosecution and defense hoped to seat a jury sometime today and open testimony.

Walker said he issued the warning because of some reports that reluctant celebrities have indicated that they would ignore subpenas to appear as "defense witnesses"

The trial directed against two West Coast representatives of Confidential and its sister publication, Whisper magazine, was adjourned Monday after the prosecution and defense had examined 44 prospective jurors. At the end of the day's proceedings, 12 persons were given tentative approval to be seated on the jury but none was actually approved by both sides.

It was indicated Monday that the prosecution might have a hard time getting a conviction on charges of conspiracy to commit libel because only two persons, Fred and Marjorie Meade, actually are on trial The Meades, heads of Hollywood Research, Inc, agency for the two so-called scandal magazines, were among several persons indicted on the same charge and the others have so far successfully blocked extradition to California.

'Officers Club' Secret Weapon

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force has unveiled a new secret weapon of sorts: The officer's club.

Brig. Gen. William E Rentz, Air Force installations deputy director, told a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony released Monday that the officer's club helped build "a spirit of belonging to an organization."

Moreover, he disclosed how the clubs contribute to national defense:

"If we did not have an officer's open mess on the base, at the close of work the officers would be dispersed all throughout the neighborhood; they would be hard to locate if anything of an emergency nature happened."

District Units in Kennywood Event

The 11th annual Firemen's Parade at Kennywood Park, sponsored by the North Braddock Volunteer Fire Department, will be held Friday.

The Fayette City and Washington Township Fire departments will be represented in the parade.

This big yearly feature always draws one of the biggest delegations of fire fighters and their equipment in Western Pennsylvania. Over 80 community fire departments from the Tri-State area have filed entries for the parade, some of them sending several items for competition.

The parade will be held on Kennywood's extensive main midway at 7 p. m. circling all through the park so that there will be plenty of room for spectators.

Friends to End

MILWAUKEE (UP) — A friend in need is not always a friend indeed. Charles Schwartz, 33, told police he stole a radio, wristwatch, sports shirt and seven dollars from the home of a "friend."

15,000 U. S. Marines Invade Guadalcanal 15 Years Ago Today

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert C. Miller covered the invasion of Guadalcanal for United Press in August, 1942. He visited the island again recently.

By ROBERT C. MILLER

GUADALCANAL, British Solomon Islands (UP) —Fifteen years ago this dawn the battle for Guadalcanal began with a thunder of naval gunfire, the scream of dive-bombers and the pounding hearts of 15,000 Marines going into their first—and for many their last — battle.

Ashore there was the agony of the wounded and the moans of the dying as the explosives drenched the groves of tall, slender coco-palms and tore holes into men and metal with soulless indifference.

Fires with their shrouds of greasy smoke rose higher and higher into the sticky tropical air as the bombs and shells "softened" the beachhead.

Inland, hundreds of men, yellow of skin and small in size, fled the hell that suddenly came out of the sky, leaving half eaten food and their dead staring at the rising sun with a look of amazed horror still on their faces.

But 15 years and the world's appetite for scrap metal have erased most of the props and settings.

Always Has Been

Dawn breaks with the same vividly stained skies, the same cloud pockets pad the valleys and the damp smell of the jungle is just as it has always been in these tropical wonderlands.

But now there is only the whine of a sawmill at Tenaru Beach to trespass on the early morning silence. Fifteen years ago the place was a boiler factory. Noisy landing craft and amphibious tractors spewed men and supplies in the churned sands. Bulldozers flanked down the beach with roaring diesels, forming roads and clearing bush.

Offshore lies Savo Island, volcanic, grim and surrounded by waters now charted as "Iron Bottom Sound." It was in these waters that the terrible night actions were fought with their ghostly flares, crashes of gunfire, probing searchlights and burning ships.

Transports Still There

As you fly down the "slot" from Rabaul, safe and comfortable in the weekly Qantas flight, the plane passes Cape Esperance, Japan's toehold before retreat, and further along lie the blind and lifeless hulks of Vice Admiral Raizo Tanaka's four beached transports. They lie where he ordered them deliberately grounded so their thousands of troops could be landed in support of the besieged and starving garrison.

On Guadalcanal today there is the unruffled life of the tropics where Englishmen play at cricket and mission children sing hymns. The talk is over iced drinks and concerns the price of copra while women scold their children and complain of the "servant problem."

Soon the last of the rusting hulls will dissolve under the cutting torch or crumbled flakes of rust, the old tower at Henderson Field will come down and the foxholes fill as the jungle reclaims its own.

Trial Board to Hear Case of Missing Cop

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A police trial board today will hear evidence in the case of a patrolman who has not returned to duty following the expiration of his vacation last June 27.

Police records showed that Joseph C. Walters, 30, has been absent 131 days this year, 27 of which were for sick leave and vacation.

He will be charged with AWOL and tried in absentia, unless he can be found in time for the hearing, police authorities said.

Meanwhile, Safety Director Louis Rosenberg congratulated two policemen, one for "speedy action" against a patrolman accused of being drunk on duty and the other for "intelligent" police work.

Rosenberg praised Lieutenant Payne for promptly suspending Patrolman James McLaughlin, accused of being drunk, and Patrolman Leo Reilly, charged with "covering up" for McLaughlin.

McLaughlin resigned before being tried by a trial board and Reilly subsequently was fired.

Patrolman James Slachew, 27, was commended for his part in the capture of an alleged sex deviate accused of molesting children.

In other action, six Republican council candidates charged the recent firing of policemen was "bogus as a $3.00 bill."

"There can be no reform until policemen are removed from political influence and policemen are promoted solely on merit. It is true five small fry policemen have suffered loss of jobs and two police inspectors have been given slap-on the wrist criticism," they said.

Strike of TV Workers Silences Lawrence Welk

CHICAGO (UP) — A surprise walkout of 800 television engineers in four major cities Monday night left affable bandleader Lawrence Welk squeezing his accordion before idle cameras.

The strike blacked out the American Broadcasting Co.'s Chicago outlet, station WBKB, and stations in San Francisco, New York and Los Angeles.

Supervisory personnel moved into the gap left by the walkout of members of the National Association of Broadcasting Engineers and Technicians and restored operations in an hour.

An ABC spokesman in Hollywood, where the Welk show originates, said the strike resulted from a dispute between the union and Philadelphia radio station WFIL, an ABC affiliate.

In Chicago, George W. Smith, international president of the union, charged WBKB with "transferring work out of the bargaining unit to an affiliate station."

Station Vice President Sterling C. Quinlan said technicians returned to work later in the evening upon arriving at a settlement in New York.

Japan Seeks Ban On Nuclear Weapons

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UP)—The Japanese nation, joined by its royalty and the people of many countries, appealed for an end to nuclear weapons today on the 12th anniversary of the atom bombing of Hiroshima.

Prince Mikasa, brother of Emperor Hirohito, and Princess Mikasa, led 20,000 Japanese at Hiroshima in paying respects to the memory of those who died in the world's first atom-bombing.

In Tokyo, 200 foreign and Japanese delegates opened an international conference dedicated to seeing that there would be "no more Hiroshimas."

1 Death Notice

VIZZA — Mrs. Tressa, of 506 Ontario St., died Aug. 4, at 9:12 p. m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. Surviving are her husband, Emilio; three sons, Frank and Joseph, of Monessen and Alfred, at home; a daughter, Rosalie, at home; one grandchild; and the following brothers and sisters, Albert Pizza, Mrs. Sinibaldo (Mary) Daniele, Albert Zimmaro, Mrs. Julius (Josephine) D'Alfonso, James and Patsy Zimmaro, all of Monessen and Guido Zimmaro, of Jacksonville, Fla. Friends are being received at the Check Home for Funerals, 100 Schoonmaker Ave., from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m. Brief funeral services will be held from the funeral home Wednesday, Aug 7, at 9:30 a. m., with additional services to follow at 10 o'clock from the St. Cajetan R. C. Church. The Rev Leonard Sanesi will officate. Interment will be in the Grandview Cemetery. John L. Kravets, futheral director.

2 Card of Thanks

RADACSY — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of John J Radacsy, Sr The ministrations of the Rev Joseph Gajdosik, the Rev. Augustine Stefko, the Rev Theodore Benkovic, masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.
The Radacsy Family

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Nestor, who died one year ago today, August 6, 1956.
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal we'll find,
Honorable and true in all of your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgment, always right,
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
One in a million, that mother was you.
One year has passed, our hearts are still sore,
As time rolls on, we miss you more,
A loving mother, tender and kind,
What beautiful memories you left behind!
Sadly missed by husband, John and children, Carol and Barbara

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Afton Mahalko, who died 12 years ago, August 5, 1945
Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by,
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep
Sadly missed by the Mahalko Family

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Gurzynski, who died two years ago today, August 6, 1955
Gone into the light that shineth so fair,
Gone from this earth of sorrow and care,
Resting those hands that did their best,
Gone, dear mother, gone to rest
Dearest mother, how we miss you,
Since from earth you passed away,
And our hearts are aching sorely,
As we think of you today.
Sadly missed by Son, Daughters, Daughter in law, Son in law Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren

In loving mesory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs Julia Bucci, who died one year ago today, August 6, 1956.
Peaceful by thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low,
Thou no more will join our number,
Thou no more our sorrows know.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in Heaven in joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed
Sadly missed by her Sons, Daughters and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear mother er and grandmother, Mrs Josephine Luciani who died one year ago today, August 6, 1956
You are not forgotten mother,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place
Sadly missed by Luciani Family

PUC Schedules Hearing on Train Fare Increase

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission will hold a public hearing in Philadelphia Aug. 15 and 16 on a proposed 15 per cent increase in commuter fares on the Pennsylvania, Reading and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroads.

The increase, which is opposed by the city of Philadelphia and several commuters, was filed to become effective June 16, but was suspended pending the PUC investigation.

The fare hike would chiefly affect riders in the Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg areas, generally providing a $3 increase in the price of the unrestricted monthly commuter tickets. Other general increases in the proposed new rate schedule: $2 70 for monthly restricted tickets, $2 25 for school tickets, $1 80 for the 24-trip tickets, $1.50 for 20-trip tickets, and 75 cents for weekly tickets.

The PUC hearing, originally set for Aug. 13 and 14, was set back due to a heavy hearing schedule next week.

Too Little, Late

FLINT, Mich. (UP)—Policemen waited patiently through the hot summer months for the arrival of their new lightweight uniforms, replacing the heavy winter garb that had been worn year - round Monday, when the first shift to wear the new uniforms reported for duty the temperature had dropped to 46.

Anti-Semitism Seen in Russia

LONDON (UP)—A new upsurge of anti-Semitism in Russia is forcing Jews out of key positions in Soviet political and economic life, it was reported here today.

A survey issued by the Congress for Cultural Freedom—a non-Communist study group—said Communist Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev appears to regard Russia's Jews as potential traitors.

Despite some minor recent improvements in the lot of Jews in Russia, the survey said, the generally anti-Semitic trend established by the late Premier Josef Stalin appears to be continuing unchecked.

The survey said Russia's new anti-Semitism has not yet reached the level it attained during the last years of Stalin's life, when "cosmopolitan" Jewish intellectuals were persecuted and Yiddish newspapers, theaters and clubs were closed down.

95-Year-Old Woman 'Cuts Up' by Doing Calisthenics for Friends

CORYDON, Iowa (UP) — Cinda Shaw's idea of "cutting up" is to do calisthenics to entertain her roommates.

She is 95 years old.

To be sure, the calisthenics are mild ones. But they are exercises never the less. She touches the floor while bending from the waist, exercises with a "trunk roll" while standing and has a waist slimming" routine she does while leaning against a chair. No pushups.

"It's just when we get to cutting up that I do them, just to show off" Mrs. Shaw said today.

That "we" are the other 12 residents of the Patterson nursing home here where Mrs. Shaw lives. Some of the others join in the fun.

"But they are just youngsters in their 70s," Mrs. Don Patterson, who runs the home, said.

Such Ease, Too

"It's remarkable what she can do," Mrs. Patterson said. "And she can do them with such ease."

Mrs. Shaw, a widow, is as fit as a woman 25 years younger and looks 70 instead of 95. She doesn't need the attention she gets in the nursing home except that her eyesight is failing.

She often helps Mrs. Patterson in caring for the bed patients at the home.

But she doesn't give the calisthenics credit for her good health.

"I'm very well for an old woman, but it's not because of the exercises," she said. "Its because I don't do anything."

Mrs. Shaw didn't do exercises when she was young and she has never made a fetish of it. She got started on them when a doctor prescribed calisthenics for her sister-in-law "some years ago" and Mrs. Shaw did them too just for fun.

The mercury climbed into the 90s here last week, Mrs. Shaw felt like "cutting up." So she went through some of her twists and turns anyway. She's going to take a few days off now. It's getting too hot

Has she always been able to touch her toes?

"Heavens, no. I've been too big and fat for that."

Battleship Going Into Mothballs

WASHINGTON (UP)—The powerful battleship Iowa—last of the nation's active battlewagons — is going into mothballs along with 59 other ships as part of the administration's overall military reduction program.

The Navy announced Monday the 60 ships will be withdrawn from the Atlantic and Pacific fleet and decommissioned within the next five months.

All three services are making reductions in line with the military economy drive to cut spending $2,200,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

The decommissioning of the Iowa may mark the end of an era in naval history A battleship may never again sail under the flag of the United States.

German Actress Wins Role Marilyn Wanted

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — German star Maria Schell won the classic "Brothers Karamazov" role that Marilyn Monroe pined for, but she thinks Marilyn could have played the part.

However, Maria added honestly, "I give the part more—shading. She would have done the role differently, but she would have been wonderful."

Coming from Miss Schell that statement is high praise, because although Maria is little known to U.S. audiences she is one of the topflight dramatic actresses of Europe—a delicate girl with luminous, big eyes who reminds you of a young Helen Hayes.

Marilyn caused a stir when she went to New York to learn to be an actress and announced she coveted the part of Grushenka in the classic novel, "The Brothers Karamazov."

Sorry For Credit

"And I'm sorry I get so much credit for getting this role," the vivacious Miss Schell said. "I'm sure if Marilyn had wanted the role they would have taken her (studio sources say the calendar girl was offered the part, but was not available, but now the studio is happier with Maria).

"I think Miss Monroe has been done an injustice by the critics. She is an honest actress in her expressions. She can really look at something with an honest innocence. I saw 'The Prince and The Showgirl' and was delighted.

"I don't understand why some people say she's not an actress. She is, in her field. She is sweet and funny. If she wants to be a dramatic actress and break the circle, she would have to watch a few things.

"But right now what she sells on the market is first quality."

Miss Schell won the coveted role because she happened to be in Hollywood last Oscar time. Richard Brooks, director of "Karamazov," saw her at a party and declared, "That is Greshenka." Later Yul Brynner saw her at MGM and without knowing of Brooks' decision also suggested her for the part.

"They wanted me because of my physical appearance, but not having seen my films they said, 'Can she act?'" laughed Miss Schell. "I was pleased because in Germany they consider me a good actress but men are not impressed with my looks."

"The Brothers Karamazov" may establish Maria as a top U.S. star but she is calm about her probable succes.

"In Europe they say if you go to Hollywood you go for money and leave art behind," she said. "I'm not here for money. I make more money in Germany. I've been offered Hollywood roles too often before. If I'd wanted to come here for money I would have done it before."

18 Boys Compete In Contest to Broadcast Game

Eighteen boys from the tri-state area have placed in the semi-finals of a contest to find the best boy sportscaster in Western Pennsylvania, it was announced today by the general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Joe L. Brown.

Right now, the semi-finalists are being interviewed by Paul Long, KDKA newsman who serves as a third Pirate baseball announcer on away games. The best of the semi-finalists will then compete in the finals — a play-by-play account on tape of one inning of the Phillies-Pirates game, Aug. 6.

From the final competition will emerge a winner, who will be invited to do live" a portion of the Pirates-Dodgers broadcast on August 10.

The "Junior Sportscaster Contest" began June 27th. Each entrant was to submit a biography and picture to his baseball station along with the reason why he'd like to be a Pirate sportscaster. Of 25 semi-finalists from western Pennsylvania, 18 in the tri-state listed themselves as KDKA Radio listeners.

Your Health—

Simple Treatment Curbs Summertime Malady

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Man sweats and woman perspires. And during this time of year, both had better be aware of the unpleasant odors which might result.

You might be offending others about you, especially if you perspire profusely, without being aware of it.

Your nose gradually becomes a victim of odor fatigue.

The first whiff of an odor is usually very strong. The second is weaker. Eventually you won't be able to notice it at all.

That's how people can live near a stockyard. It is also the reason why you might not be aware of your own body odor.

You have to perspire. Never try to abolish perspiration entirely.

As for stamping out underarm odors, you might try either the liquids or powder type commercial deodorants. Either probably is as effective and as economical as anything you could whip up with any formula I could give you.

As a matter of fact, many liquid deodorants are simply based on a 22½ per cent solution of aluminum chloride mixed with water and a little coloring.

Generally, they are perfectly safe for the skin. Their only action is to reduce perspiration.

Should they cause any irritation, simply discontinuing their use is usually enough to clear up the trouble. If it isn't better see your doctor about it.

Pastes and powders can contain compounds of zinc, bismuth or salicylic acid. Like the liquids, they usually are quite safe. There might be an exception if salicylic acid is used and doses are too frequent or prolonged. Irritation could result.

But with all the maze of deodorants confronting us in advertisements day after day, let's not forget the old reliable and excellent deodorants — soap and water.

Webster Ladies Auxiliary Has Regular Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of Webster met Thursday at the Webster fire hall for a regular meeting. Vivian Blick, president was in charge. Mary Bentley, chaplain, opened the meeting with prayer.

Reports were given by Beatrice Johnson, acting recording secretary; Stella Lynn, acting financial secretary; and Lillian Wilson, treasurer.

The women voted to place wreaths on the honor roll on Memorial Day and Armistice Day each year.

The annual banquet will be held Sept. 21 at Twin Coaches.

The pig-in-the-poke donated by Irma Pasquinelli was won by Laura Boyce. Gifts were received by Stella Lynn, Margaret Buck and Laura Boyce from their secret sisters. A covered dish dinner was served to 19 persons.

Hostesses for the Aug. 19 meeting will be Ann Weir and Violet Strang.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Echart and Gwen Wood visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Marker, of Fairchance.

Salk Vaccine Solving Problem

NEW YORK (UP)—Dr. Jonas Salk said today he still is satisfied that his killed-virus polio vaccine will solve the problem of immunizing wide groups of the world's population.

Salk made his comment on returning to this country from a series of meetings in Geneva, Switzerland, on the world polio problem. He arrived on the liner United States and planned to return to Pittsburgh where he is commonwealth professor of medicine at the University of Pittsburgh.

Salk reiterated his confidence in his vaccine when asked for comment on a statement last week by Dr. Albert Sabin, the developer of a live virus vaccine. Sabin said on his return from Europe that he had received encouragement from the world health organization to begin more extensive tests using the live virus vaccine. Sabin maintains his vaccine is cheaper than Salk's.

Salk said the concensus of fact indicated all countries now vaccinating against polio are using the killed-virus vaccine.

Accident Involves Five Movie Stars

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UP)—A routine fender-bender on famed 17 - mile drive Monday wouldn't have rated more than a paragraph in the local paper except for one thing: it indirectly involved five movie stars.

The California Highway Patrol reported a sports car registered to Bing Crosby collided with another car driven by an Oakland, Calif., woman. Neither the two occupants of the Crosby roadster, Phil Harris and Alice Faye's daughter Phyllis, 13, and Sally Anne Blaine, 18-year-old daughter of former screen star Sally Blaine, nor the Oakland woman, Mrs. Irene Wasz, 30, were injured.

The patrol said the accident occurred near the Crosby home here where the Harrises and Miss Blaine were house guests.

The fifth movie star? Miss Blaine is also the niece of film star Loretta Young.

Says Seat Belts Will Cut Deaths

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Ford Motor Co. official said today use of seat belts in all cars and trucks would cut the nation's highway deaths by more than 50 per cent.

Moreover, he said use of the controversial belts in all cars and trucks would cut in half the number of serious injuries resulting from traffic accidents.

Ford Vice President Robert S. McNamara said in a statement prepared for the House traffic safety subcommittee:

"It is our opinion that the use of seat belts in all cars and trucks on the American road today would reduce the 40,000 fatalities annually to less than 19,000 and would reduce the 1,000,000 serious injuries to no more than 500,000."

Belts Most Effective

Alex L. Haynes, Ford advanced product study director, said in presenting McNamara's statement that "tests and experience have proved beyond all reasonable doubt that seat belts are the most effective single item available in reducing traffic injuries and deaths."

"Ford Motor Company strongly recommends the use of seat belts in all cars and trucks," he said.

Haynes said seat belts are "not a panacea for all accident injuries."

But he said they will "materially reduce forces imposed on vehicle occupants at any speed whether the seat belts remain intact or not." He said they also "tend to keep the passenger inside the car" where chances of serious injury are cut 50 per cent.

Haynes said in prepared testimony that Ford has sold more safety belts than the rest of the automobile industry combined.

He said since 1956 Ford sold 160,000 vehicles equipped with seat belts and supplied 200,000 more to dealers for installation.

However, he said the company is disturbed because the rate of seat belt installation has fallen off in the last few months.

He blamed the reduction in part on opposition from a "small vocal minority." He said the opposition was based on "misinterpretation of data from a relatively small number of accidents and tests."

Col. John P. Stapp, an Air Force flight surgeon who travelled 632 miles an hour on a rocket sled and stopped in one and a half seconds—endorsed seat belts Monday before the subcommittee.

"I wouldn't be caught dead without them," he said.

Stapp's testimony added more evidence piling up before the subcommittee that seat belts can lessen or prevent injuries and save lives. However, the subcommittee also expects to hear from at least one independent researcher who claims belts are dangerous.

Most tornadoes in the United States occur between noon and 6 p. m.

Wants Gas Curb Boxes Regulated

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Safety Director Louis Rosenberg said on Monday he would draft an ordinance regulating the installation of gas curb boxes.

Rosenberg's decision came after a fire Sunday night when workers were hampered in their efforts to shut off a gas valve because it had been sealed off. Concrete near the blazing building had to be broken to reach the sealed valve.

Rosenberg's ordinance is expected to be ready for the August 26 city council meeting.
